Britain To Reduce Medical Services, Slash Other Costs

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today slashed dollar spending and defence costs and cut down on free medical services to ease Britain's economic crisis.

The Prime Minister announced to a crowded House of Commons a new austerity program which puts a charge on National Health prescriptions, increases some food prices, cuts defence, capital expenditure and housing outlays.

Attlee said the new program was designed to reduce government spending by £280,000,000 ($868,000,000) a year. Britain's budget now is about $3,300,000,000.

Attlee said £30,000,000 of the savings will be in armed forces expenses of this country which holds a key position in the west Atlantic Pact defence plans. Attlee said the government's forecast of future defence expenditure would be announced later.

The government will save another £10,000,000 on the National Health scheme. Instead of being free, each prescription under the scheme, introduced in July, 1948,

Subsidy Off, Food Costs Up

The prices of dried and frozen eggs and fish will be increased, due to a reduction in food subsidies on which the government spends £485,000,000 a year. The government will no longer help farmers buy fodder for their animals after February.

Attlee made no direct references to Canadian food purchases but said the government had "settled a new dollar-import program at a reduced figure of $1,200,000,000 a year and this should reduce imports in the first half of 1950 to $600,000,000.

Britain spent about $1,600,000,000 on imports last year and $820,000,000 in the first half of this year. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced July 14 that temporary 25 per cent cut would be made in imports. Attlee made the cut permanent until the end of the government's fiscal year next March 31.

The housing program is to be

Export Prospects Brighten

Attlee said devaluation had opened greater opportunities to get dollars through exports.

There are already signs of an increased demand, he said.

"An expert salesmanship will be needed and we must be able to give early delivery. The opportunity must be seized. The measures, many of them distasteful, which we are taking, are necessary and consequential of the decision to devalue.

"They do not affect the main structure of the welfare state. They are, rather, a retardation of progress in certain directions."

The Prime Minister said there will be savings in the Labor government's socialized health program, in education, in public and private building, government administrative costs and in government public relations offices.

Prices of some foods will rise, Attlee told the House.

Alberni Woman Killed As Car Runs Into Ditch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic accidents claimed two lives and brought injury to a number of persons in British Columbia during the week-end.

The dead: Mrs. Jessie Evans, 25, of Port Alberni and Walter Menzies, 63, of Vancouver.

Mrs. Evans was killed outright when a car in which she and four others were riding hit a patch of loose gravel at the Alberni end of Cameron Lake, careened out of control and overturned into a deep roadside ditch.

The four survivors were taken to hospital at Port Alberni where their conditions are satisfactory.

Federal Voters Go To Polls In Eight Constituencies

OTTAWA (CP)—This is election day in eight federal constituencies.

In the first by-elections since the general election June 27, the voters turned out to fill Commons vacancies caused by six government appointments and two deaths.

The voters, at polls operating from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., local standard time, marked ballots to select new representatives for Montreal-Laurier, Montreal-Mercier, Montreal-Jacques Cartier, Kamouraska, Que., Gatineau, Que.; Restigouche-Madawaska, N.B.; Toronto-Greenwood and New Westminster.

Seven of the eight constituencies—all but Toronto-Greenwood—elected Liberals in the general election when the Liberal government was returned to office with a large majority.

Present standing in the Commons is: Liberals 186, Progressive Conservatives 40, C.C.F. 13, Social Credit 10, Independent 4, Independent Liberal 1, vacant 8, Total 262.

The candidates in the eight ridings today totaled 23. Of the 24 nominated Oct. 11, Emile Naud, Independent Liberal candidate in Montreal-Laurier, dropped from the running Friday.

No Apparent Progress In Major U.S. Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thickening gloom appeared to have smothered today any hope for early peace in the industry-crippling coal and steel strikes in the United States.

Nowhere was there any apparent progress toward a break in either of the two major disputes as unemployment mounted and more and more industries became hobbled. Some railroads prepared to curtail train services because of dwindling coal piles and layoffs continued in industries dependent upon steel supplies.

Bidault Named To Try To Form French Cabinet

PARIS (UP)—France turned today to Georges Bidault, former Foreign Minister and Premier, in efforts to find another Centrist government that will end the 19-day-old government crisis.

Bidault, a Popular Republican (MRP), accepted designation as premier after Socialist Jules Moch and Radical Socialist Rene Mayer failed to whip the middle-road parties into line.

Negotiations with party leaders which began this morning were complicated by a strike threat from Socialist workers. The Socialist workers force, the largest non-Communist union in France, authorized its executive committee to call a strike unless salary demands are met.

CALL FOR ELECTION

Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Right-Wing followers continued their demands for dissolution of Parliament and new elections. The cry for new elections was taken up by one section of the Radical Socialists, the third party of the Centrist Coalition, in the Rhone Department.

The Rhone radicals voted in favor of an interim cabinet to prepare the way for new election.

Bidault's MRP party originally had refused to try to form a government, but Bidault said he accepted the post because of France's "critical economic condition."

Bidault will appear before the National Assembly tomorrow for a vote of confidence, which he is sure to receive. Most observers believed however that he had no better chance to form a cabinet than Moch or Mayer.

Offers To Give Up Nation's Stockpile Under Baruch Plan

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

NEW YORK—President Truman today challenged all countries to agree on a workable way to outlaw the atomic bomb, as the alternative to man's destruction.

Speaking against the background of Russia's refusal to come into an agreement that the United States and other powers have endorsed, Truman said:

"To assure that atomic energy will be devoted to man's welfare and not to his destruction is a continuing challenge to all nations and all peoples."

It was his first foreign policy declaration since his Sept. 23 announcement: "We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U.S.S.R." The President said today:

"Ever since the first atomic weapon was developed, a major objective of United States policy has been a system of international control of atomic energy that would assure effective prohibition of atomic weapons, and at the same time would promote the peaceful use of atomic energy by all nations."

Truman spoke at the laying of the cornerstone of the secretariat building of permanent United Nations Headquarters on the U.N.'s fourth anniversary.

Insists On U.N. Inspection

The United States has offered to surrender its bombs under the Russian-opposed, but General Assembly-approved "Baruch Plan" providing rigid U.N. inspections and controls to assure against illegal bomb building.

The President did not mention Russia by name, but indirectly challenged the Soviet government to offer a "better and more effective plan."

He said the United States now is "and will remain, ready to do its full share" to meet the atomic weapon's threat to peace.

In another obvious dig at the Soviet orbit, Truman sharply criticized disregard of human rights which he said were "indispensable to political, economic and social progress." He said U.N. members know that "disregard of human rights is the beginning of tyranny, and, too often, the beginning of war."

He spoke just two days after the General Assembly had voted agreement with western charges that Russian satellites Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary are suppressing human rights and freedoms. The questions first were raised after trials of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in Budapest and other religious leaders in Bulgaria.

The General Assembly approved, 40 to 6, Nov. 4, 1948, the United States-endorsed plan drafted by Bernard Baruch and others of the U.N. Atomic Energy Committee.

Peaceful Use Of A-Energy

"This is a good plan," the President said. "It is a plan that can be effective in accomplishing its purpose. It is the only plan so far developed that would meet the technical requirements of control, that would make prohibition of atomic weapons effective, and at the same time promote the peaceful development of atomic energy on a co-operative basis."

"We support this plan and will continue to support it unless and until a better and more effective plan is put forward."

This was a new notice that the United States will continue building up its stockpile of atomic bombs until controls are guaranteed. The Russians have insisted on outlawing the bomb as a preliminary to discussion of controls.

Bride Of 3 Months Slain In Princeton; No Arrests

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—An attractive Alberta nurse was found shot to death and stabbed in the chest in the bedroom of her cottage home Sunday in a crime unparalleled in this coal mining town 120 miles east of Vancouver.

Taxi-owner George Mathewson returned home in the quiet of Sunday morning to find the ravaged, nude body of his 24-year-old bride of four months sprawled across her bed. She was the former Mona Ganderon of Wainwright, Alta., where she married Mathewson July 8.

Provincial Police Inspector J. H. McClinton said the Princeton Hospital nurse had been shot through the head with a .22-caliber bullet, gashed under the left breast with what he thought was a knife, and raped. A second bullet was lodged in the bedroom door.

Neither the gun nor the weapon used in the stabbing could be found.

Inspector McClinton placed the time of the attack at between 11:20 and 11:30 Saturday night. He said the head wound was fatal.

No arrests had been made up to this morning, although a Provincial Police officer earlier had said that investigators were "optimistic."

Sub-Inspector J. A. Young, ballistics expert of the B.C. Police, flew into Princeton Sunday from the Victoria. A fingerprint expert was scheduled to arrive this afternoon.

Mathewson had been on a taxi trip to nearby Copper Mountain and had dropped in at the Saturday night dance there, to talk to friends. He arrived home at 4 a.m. and discovered the grisly murder.

MUCH NOISE

Police said Princeton on Saturday nights is a "noisy town," which probably accounted for the fact neighbors paid little attention to the shots fired in the Mathewson home.

Some neighbors volunteered they had heard what appeared to be shots at the time of the crime is believed to have been committed. They added, however, that they thought it was the noise of fireworks children had been setting off in the area at the time.

Mrs. Mathewson was the daughter of an oil well driller, J. Ganderon of Wainwright. Her mother is currently in Ottawa en route home from a visit to relatives in England.

The young nurse came here in 1947, when she first met Mathewson. She was a nurse at the Princeton Hospital and resumed her duties there after the July marriage.

Britain Cuts 868 Millions From Budget

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today slashed dollar spending and defence costs and cut down on free medical services to ease Britain's economic crisis.

The Prime Minister announced to a crowded House of Commons a new austerity program which puts a charge on National Health prescriptions, increases some food prices, cuts defence, capital expenditure and housing outlays.

Attlee said the new program was designed to reduce government spending by £280,000,000 ($868,000,000) a year. Britain's budget now is about $3,300,000,000.

Attlee said £30,000,000 of the savings will be in armed forces expenses of this country which holds a key position in the west's Atlantic Pact defence plans. Attlee said the government's forecast of future defence expenditure would be announced later.

The government will save another £10,000,000 on the National Health scheme. Instead of being free, each prescription under the scheme, introduced in July, 1948,

Commonwealth Revision Lauded By Pandit Nehru

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India told the Canadian Parliament this afternoon that revision of the Commonwealth structure to include the Indian countries "is a significant step towards peace and co-operation in the world."

Addressing a Commons chamber packed with members of both Houses of Parliament, with diplomats, high civil servants and the public, he said India's "aspiration and bitterness" from years of British rule have "largely faded away, giving place to friendly co-operation between free and equal nations."

Imperialism, he said in a 3,000-word speech, lingers in only a few countries today. Asia was renaissance in the wake of its departure. But to regard "the present unsettled state of south-east Asia as a result of a part of ideological conflict would be a dangerous error."

"The troubles and discontents of this part of the world and indeed of the greater part of Asia are the result of obstructed freedom and dire poverty. The remedy is to accelerate the advent of freedom and to remove want. If this is achieved Asia will become a powerful factor in stability and peace. The philosophy of Asia has been and is a philosophy of peace."

Federal Voters Go To Polls In Eight Constituencies

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—Warm, foggy weather favored voters in New Westminster today in the federal by-election, with voting reported light during the morning hours. This was Commons by-election day also in seven other constituencies.

The advance poll in New Westminster, which was open for three days, received only eight votes in the by-election, being held to replace Liberal Tom Reid, who was appointed to the Senate. Returning officer Edward Beatty expected a big rush during the noon hour with a slackening-off again the early afternoon, and another rush in the late afternoon.

Five candidates were jockeying to receive a majority from the 47,600 voters in the riding balloting in one of Canada's eight by-elections held today.

The five candidates: William Mott, Liberal; James Christmas, Progressive Conservative; Ron Irving, C.C.F.; Maurice Rush, Labor Progressive; and Elmore Philpott, Independent.

The polls, opened at 8 a.m., will close at 6 p.m.

Besides New Westminster, the constituencies polling today were: Montreal-Laurier, Montreal-Mercier, Montreal-Jacques Cartier, Kamouraska, Que.; Gatineau, Que.; Restigouche-Madawaska, N.B.; and Toronto-Greenwood.

Nehru Would Visit Stalin If Invited

OTTAWA (CP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru, visiting the United States and Canada, said today he would go to Russia, too, if Stalin invited him.

He was told at a press conference the Russian press was saying he has committed India more firmly "to the U.S. bloc."

He said "our policy is not to align ourselves with any bloc, but to be friendly with all." There were certain contacts with the Commonwealth, but this did not preclude complete independence.

Concrete Chimney Stood 20 Years Without Being Used

Another familiar landmark along Victoria's waterfront was destroyed this afternoon.

The giant chimney of the once-active Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Company Ltd. on the Upper Harbor industrial section, came tumbling down today with a tumultuous roar after standing straight and proud for 20 years.

The stack, which towered 225 feet in the air, was actually a white elephant. Built at a cost of $30,000—considered a fabulous sum at the time—the chimney was never used for its intended purpose.

When the huge reinforced concrete structure was being built, it was planned that it should serve as the smoke outlet for the mill. Company officials had plans of expanding their existing sawmill and wanted a chimney which could take care of any additional load.

MILL BURNED DOWN

Before the chimney was put into use at all, however, the sawmill burned down. Residents who were in the city at the time recall it as an odd sight to see the great chimney surrounded at its foot with nothing but charred ruins.

Only seldom was it used thereafter, and then as a rubbish incinerator.

Built by the Weaver Chimney Company, which sent workmen here from Chicago, the chimney had a rock foundation which made its actual height from bottom to top 240 feet.

At the base, the chimney measured 18 feet, five inches in diameter. At the top it measured 12 feet, 10 inches across. Openings in the bottom were large enough that trucks could—and often were—driven through.

Work of demolition was supervised by engineers of the B.C. Electric Company which has acquired the property as the location for installing new propane gas tanks which are needed for extending its domestic gas service in this city.

Fifty holes were drilled at the base of the stack and 50 sticks of 80 per cent dynamite were inserted. The stack was weakened for the blast by workmen who drilled through steel rods, encased in the cement as reinforcement.

A. J. Barr, blasting contractor, handled the actual setting off of the charge.

Urges Energy Diverted To Peaceful Use

PARIS (UP)—France turned today to Georges Bidault, former Foreign Minister and Premier, in efforts to find another Centrist government that will end the 19-day-old government crisis.

Bidault, a Popular Republican (MRP), accepted designation as premier after Socialist Jules Moch and Radical Socialist Rene Mayer failed to whip the middle-road parties into line.

Mayor Would Eliminate Radio License Fee, Not Double It

If Mayor Percy George has his way the Victoria City Council will make a stand against the proposed increase in radio license fees from $2.50 a year to $5.

The mayor would have the fee eliminated, entirely.

He voiced these views today on receiving a mail ballot from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in a vote being taken among executive members of the Dominion-wide organization on a resolution passed recently by the City Council in Brantford, Ont.

The Brantford Council's resolution not only opposed the proposed doubling of the radio license fee but disagreed with the present fee.

Mayor George said he would "definitely support the resolution."

"I certainly am against increasing the radio license fee. I feel the government should not tax the people at all by this means," he said.

The Brantford resolution pointed out that radio listeners in the U.S. were not required to pay fees. Also a great many programs heard in Canada originated in the U.S. and were supplied to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at no cost.

The resolution said that radio advertisers should be charged an amount sufficient to make the CBC a paying organization without the people having to be taxed through license fees.

Subsidy Off, Food Costs Up

The prices of dried and frozen eggs and fish will be increased, due to a reduction in food subsidies on which the government spends $485,000,000 a year. The government will no longer help farmers buy fodder for their animals after February.

Attlee made no direct references to Canadian food purchases but said the government had "settled a new dollar-import program at a reduced figure of $1,200,000,000 a year and this should reduce imports in the first half of 1950 to $600,000,000."

Britain spent about $1,600,000,000 on imports last year and $820,000,000 in the first half of this year. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced July 14 that temporary 25 per cent cut would be made in imports. Attlee made the cut permanent until the end of the government's fiscal year next March 31.

The housing program is to be reduced by some $35,000,000 a year. The rate of capital expenditure, now running at almost $2,100,000,000 a year, will be reduced by about £140,000,000 a year. A £5,000,000 reduction will be made in the cost of education and the cost meals will be increased by one penny.

This economy program is the government's first announcement of policy since it devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80, in United States funds, Sept. 18. The Commons will debate the program Wednesday and Thursday.

"To counter the risk in inflation, we must reduce expenditure and increase production," Attlee told the House as crowds in the galleries hung on his words.

Long lines of people who couldn't get in were waiting outside for the word of Britain's next step in her battle against financial crisis. Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret heard the address.

Export Prospects Brighten

Attlee said devaluation had opened greater opportunities to get dollars through exports. "There are already signs of an increased demand," he said.

"... expert salesmanship will be needed and we must be able to give early delivery. The opportunity must be seized. The measures, many of them distasteful, which we are taking, are necessary and consequential of the decision to devalue.

"They do not affect the main structure of the welfare state. They are, rather, a retardation of progress in certain directions."

Arrest Expected Soon In Princeton Slaying

PRINCETON, B.C. (BUP)—An arrest was expected "shortly" in the sex slaying at Princeton, B.C., of Mrs. Mona Mathewson, pretty 24-year-old nurse and bride of four months, according to Provincial Police handling the case.

Mrs. Mona Mathewson, whose nude body was found lying on the bed of her bungalow bedroom Sunday by her taxi company owner husband, was shot, stabbed and believed to have been a victim of rape.

A .22 calibre weapon was believed to have been used to shoot her through the head and she was stabbed once below the left breast.

A ballistics expert, Sub-Inspector J. A. Young of Victoria, has been brought to this mining town 125 miles east of Vancouver, to prove the case.

The daughter of an oil well driller, J. Ganderton of Wainwright, Alta., Mrs. Mathewson came here in 1947, when she first met George Mathewson. She was a nurse at the Princeton Hospital and resumed her duties there after the July marriage.

Attempt To Blow Up Power Lines In Doukhobor Area

TRAIL (CP)—Police reported today an attempt was made early Sunday to blow up seven power lines near Brilliant, B.C., in the heart of the Doukhobor country, 20 miles north of here.

Charges of gunpowder were inserted in holes bored in the poles. One pole was blown from its base, and six others damaged but not felled by the blasts.

The lines carry power from the Kootenay River dams of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company and the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

The Brilliant plant was closed while the blown pole was replaced, but there was no serious interruption in the power supply to the big industrial plants near Trail. Brilliant is the headquarters of the Sons of Freedom.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

HERE AND THERE

PERHAPS BECAUSE I have recently been to Toronto—if only for a few hours between flights—I am more than customarily receptive to any odd bit of news about the eastern city which has, over the years, come to be known as Toronto the Good.

That's why I was rather amused to see that one of its churches departed from the traditional idea of Thanksgiving celebration in a way that only a Toronto church could—or would.

The theme of the service was "God and the Assembly Line"—and instead of the traditional harvest decorations of prime vegetables, sheaves of grain and garden flowers, its motif was raw rubber, rubber tires and hose.

STRETCH A POINT

A RUBBER FACTORY happens to be situated a few blocks from the Woodgreen church in question, which no doubt explains its products supplanting the usual corn and pumpkin display.

And I suppose that particular harvest of the assembly line is, in the eyes of the people of that parish, as much cause for thanksgiving as are the more orthodox products of Nature's own factory in the good earth.

But, try as I may, I can't conceive of anything less inspiring to the lusty singing of "We plow the fields and scatter..." or any of the other familiar old Thanksgiving hymns, than the rather repellent sight of rubber tires and hose draped around a church chancel. It seems like stretching the modern idea just a bit too far!

BUBBLE GUM

SPEAKING OF RUBBER reminds me of an item I noticed in a U.S. News Report of the Economic Co-operation Administration. That body has just decreed that bubble gum is a luxury, not to be purchased by Marshall Plan nations with American dollars.

In that, it shares with candy, clarinets, convertible cars, lace and musical instruments. Now I can understand the convertible cars, lace, etc., being classed in the luxury category, but, from my distorted point of view, bubble gum should be placed in the nuisance—to put it mildly—class.

Yet there is good reason for the E.C.A. attitude towards it, as the same item goes on to state that Belgium bought more than seven tons of the nauseous stuff in June alone.

MATHEMATICAL MESS

THAT LEADS ME to wonder if there isn't somewhere a mathematician who would like to work out a problem, suggested to me—perhaps perverted—mind by still another news item, this time from New York.

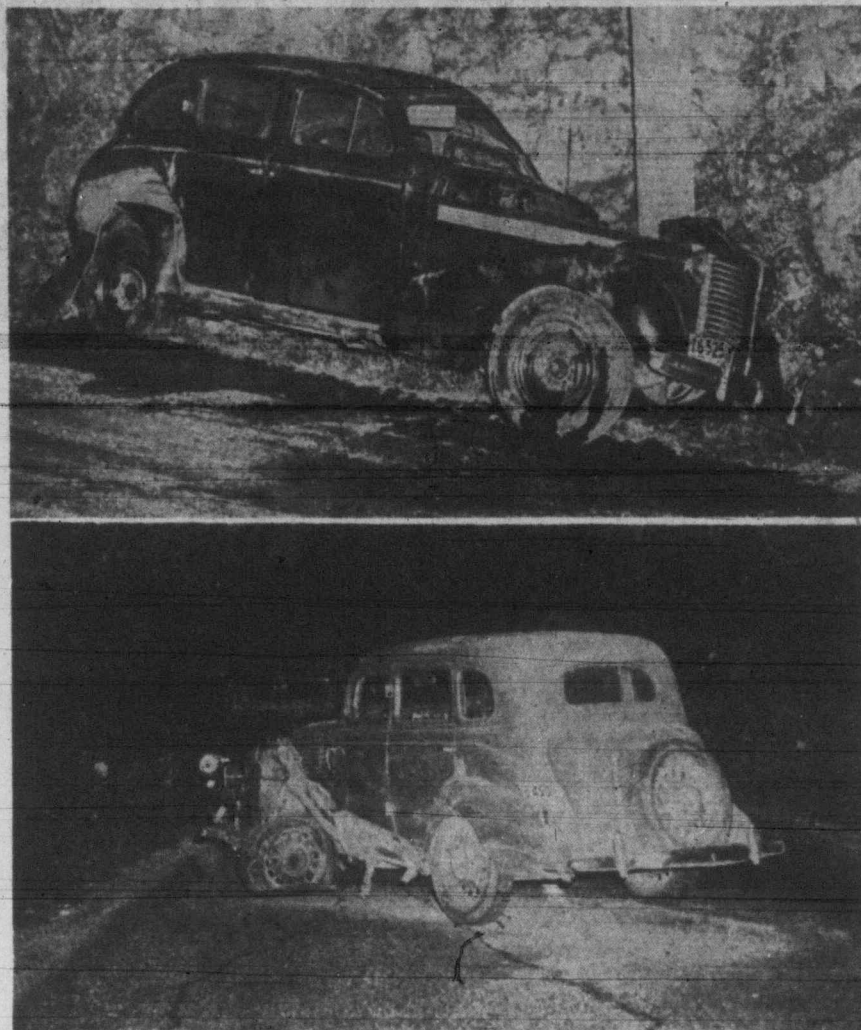

This was to the effect that the huge corps of cleaning men who daily mop up the marble floor of Grand Central Station concourse find it a sticky business. In the wee hours of each morning, the gum scrapers of the corps have to remove about eight pounds of discarded chewing gum from the station floors.

Hence my mathematical poser: If it takes experienced gum-removers so many hours each morning to remove the Grand Central Station deposit, how long would it take a Belgian army of scavengers to clean-up the masticated mess of seven-tons of bubble gum from its ancient buildings and cobbled streets?

ELEPHANT FARE

BECAUSE OF PUBLIC concern over increasing fares, I chortled at an isolated item about elephants. Although the New York Central's west shore ferry hasn't carried an elephant for ten years, one of its recommendations regarding its new fare structure was that the elephant fare be doubled—from $1.40 to $2.80 each way.

So, if you happen to think of taking your pet pachyderm on a trip to New York, don't say you haven't been warned. Of course it only says "elephants" doesn't say anything as to color. So perhaps passengers with an obsession for pink elephants will continue to get them carried free, gratis and for nothing.

Cars Badly Smashed But No One Injured

In a Saturday night crash on the Malahat at Mile 18 on the Island Highway, all six persons in the two vehicles pictured here miraculously escaped injury. Sedan (top), driven by Clarence Uttke, 52 Moss Street, was bowled completely over and is classed by Constable Bud Godfrey of the B.C. Police highway patrol as a total wreck. There were four passengers. It was in collision with sedan (below), driven by Francis William Conte, Leechtown, to which damage is estimated at $300. Const. Godfrey said the Uttke car was proceeding south, the Conte car in the opposite direction, when the crash occurred.

Attlee Says Paying For Canadian Food Crucial Problem

HARROGATE, Yorkshire (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Sunday one of Britain's biggest problems in the battle of payments is "how to pay for the food which we can only get from Canada."

"I stressed the importance of this at our 1948 meeting; it is crucial now," he added.

Attlee, who addressed a cotton industry conference, told the industry "to expand sales in the western hemisphere" even though this might mean depriving other overseas markets and the home market of goods.

"Devaluation gives us an opportunity for increasing our exports to Canada and the U.S., which must be seized," he said. "I believe it is realized in Canada that they can not continue to dispose of their food products to us unless they are prepared to receive payments by purchasing our goods. There is no way in which we can get enough dollars to pay them."

Choosing Of Names Puzzle For Parents Of Ontario's Quads

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (BUP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ozzie Hargreaves, who took the business of having quadruplets in their stride, confessed today they were stumped.

They couldn't find names for more than three of the babies who were born unexpectedly 12 days ago.

Hargreaves reported today his four daughters were doing well, he added, however: "We have three names pretty well settled, but we're stumped on the fourth."

He said he hoped to have the naming settled in a couple of days.

Meanwhile several committees were formed here to handle all aspects of the future of the quads'—those birth brought fame to this town overnight.

The four youngsters now have religious, medical, legal and financial advisers, a permanent board of advisers, two permanent committees to guard their interests, two advisers to their family and a growing fund of money.

Mayor W. H. C. Brien called a special town meeting Saturday to set up two of the permanent committees.

Alberni Woman Killed As Car Runs Into Ditch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic accidents claimed two lives and brought injury to a number of persons in British Columbia during the week-end.

The dead: Mrs. Jessie Evans, 25, of Port Alberni and Walter Menzies, 63, of Vancouver.

Mrs. Evans was killed outright when a car in which she and four others were riding hit a patch of loose gravel at the Alberni end of Cameron Lake, careened out of control and overturned into a deep roadside ditch.

The four survivors were taken to hospital at Port Alberni where their conditions are satisfactory.

They were identified by police as Theodore Evans, the dead woman's husband, William Hines, driver of the car; Mrs. Hines and Shirley Johnson, all of Port Alberni.

Menzies became Vancouver's 31st traffic fatality of the year when struck by an automobile in South Granville Saturday night.

Donald Lorne McGregor, 30-year-old accountant, named as the driver, was charged at police headquarters with manslaughter.

Four other persons were injured in overnight Vancouver accidents and have been released from hospital after treatment for minor cuts.

There were several accidents during the week-end in the Victoria and district area but no one was seriously injured.

Sea Undermining Coast As Britain Lashed By Storms

LONDON (CP)—Britain's long and warm summer broke up during the week-end in a fury of 60-mile-an-hour gales, tropical rains and boiling seas.

Homes were flooded, sea defences breached, boats overturned and coastal roads cut off. Should the devastating gales which started Saturday continue, sea-front buildings at Sandgate, near Folkestone, Kent, will be in danger of being undermined.

At Deal, Kent, 10-foot waves overturned boats and fishermen returning from a fishing festival were pitched into the sea. Mass rescue operations were carried out along a four-mile stretch of shore.

Extensive damage was caused to Hastings, Sussex, piers by the incessant pounding of heavy seas and tons of shingle were washed right into the roads beyond the promenade.

TOWN BLACKED OUT

Telephone operators, nurses, hotel and railway station staffs, and newspapermen worked by candlelight at Dartmouth, Devon, after torrential rains had caused a fault in the electric cable and blacked out the town until after midnight.

The autumn storms took their toll all along the coast of Europe as well as Britain.

The 1,140-ton Swedish ship Ketty, limping into Ijmuiden, the Netherlands, with her after holds flooded, was beached Sunday to prevent her sinking in deep water.

A small German motor vessel sank in the mouth of the rivers Weser and Elbe. The crew was saved.

At Le Croisic, France, four bodies were washed ashore. They accounted for four of the crew of five aboard a fishing vessel missing since Thursday and believed to have piled up on a reef.

Completes Longest Flight Of Mercy

OTTAWA (CP)—The R.C.A.F. has completed the longest mercy flight in its history to take a sick civilian from Resolute Bay, 1,700 miles north of Winnipeg, to a Montreal hospital.

R.C.A.F. headquarters said the Lancaster bomber made the 5,370-mile round trip from Greenwood, N.S., in just under 48 hours. For 4,270 miles the crew flew without rest, stopping only to refuel and to pick up and drop off the sick man.

Only the Christmas decorations were missing as Lethbridge citizens found themselves trudging through a midwinter landscape in the wake of a startling blizzard that swept a large section of the prairies. India's Strength, Says Nehru, Goes Into Commonwealth

OTTAWA (CP)—In his address to Parliament this afternoon Prime Minister Nehru of India paid tribute to Canada's stand in the Commonwealth discussions which led to continuation of contact by India, Pakistan and Ceylon. It was no secret that "our point of view and Canada's were identical or very near to each other" on virtually every point.

Canada has been a "pioneer in the evolution" of Commonwealth relationships and as "one of the builders of the Commonwealth as an association of free and equal nations."

When India becomes a republic shortly she would remain within the Commonwealth and her cooperation with it "will have the greater strength that common endeavor derives from a sense that it is inspired and sustained by the free peoples."

Of even greater significance than this development was the manner of its achievement. "The conflict of Indian nationalism and 'British imperialism' had gone and in its stead was friendly co-operation."

It was "an outstanding example of the peaceful solution of difficult problems and a solution which is a real one because it does not lead to other problems. The rest of the world might well pay heed to this example."

Canada had been preoccupied with Europe, India with Asia, but now "neither you nor we can afford to be purely national or even continental in our outlook." So-called east-west, Orient-Occident divisions "have little reality."

In historical perspective, colonialism and imperialism were brief and dying spasms. There could be little doubt they would go in those countries where they now lingered.

India was determined to improve the lot of her people and she had "the will and the natural resources and the human material to do so" and our immediate task is to harness them for human betterment. "It is essential for us to have a period of peaceful development and co-operation with other nations."

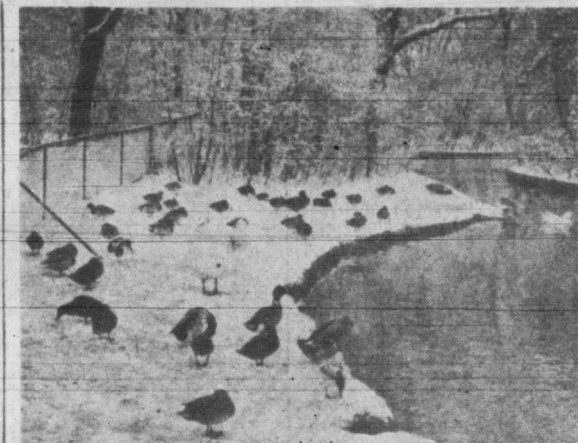

Canada and India were alike in their desire to maintain freedom and peace. He was here to "assure the government and people of Canada of our earnest desire to work for these ends in co-operation with them."

"The differences that have existed in our minds about East and West have little substance today and we are all partners in the same great undertaking. I have little doubt that in spite of the dangers that beset the world today, the forces of constructive and co-operative effort for human betterment will succeed and the spirit of man will triumph again."

MESSAGE FROM CANADIANS
As the throng in the Commons chamber applauded, Prime Minister St. Laurent asked Prime Minister Nehru to carry home to India "a message of the warmest good wishes" from all Canadians. Introducing Pandit Nehru, he told him Canada was honored to be his host. He called him a "most distinguished leader of an important portion of mankind."

Doubts Validity Of Rent Control

HAMILTON (CP)—Federal Finance Minister Abbott believes present federal rent-control legislation is of "uncertain validity." This was reported in a letter received today by Controller Hugh McIntyre from George S. Mooney, executive director of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

It may not be good weather even for ducks, but the feathered fellows pictured above are getting what may be their last look at their home in Assiniboine Park, Winnipeg. India Likely To Remain In Commonwealth Nehru Says

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India, at a long, widely-ranging press conference, today accused Pakistan of "brutal aggression" in Kashmir.

He also told reporters: 1. India is interested in buying wheat and machinery from North America and desires technical assistance to help build up her economy. He added: "We would like terms we can afford." 2. On the whole, such bitterness as there was among the Indian people as a result of long years of British rule in India has disappeared.

3. India overcame serious problems of disorder, bloodshed and migration after it gained independence and will face nothing comparable in the future. 4. There was no reason why there should be any change in India's connection with the Commonwealth when India becomes a republic in three months.

Assize Court To Hear Rape, Manslaughter Charges Here

With at least nine cases scheduled to come up for hearing, the Fall Session of the Criminal Assizes, which opens at the courthouse on Nov. 1, is expected to last well into December.

Some of the cases are expected to be prolonged. The court will hear cases varying from manslaughter to theft. There is one case of rape and one of attempted rape. One person is charged with forgery and another with intent to defraud.

Attorney-General department officials said today the indictment against Francis Edward Smyth, charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife, could not be preferred, in view of the fact that the accused, since charged, had committed suicide.

Smith, who resided at 2325 Dunlop Street, was accused of strangling his wife Jan. 13. Wilbert Droder will stand trial on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of Eleanor Alice, 72, who was struck by the accused's car at the intersection of Fort and Quadra Streets May 14. She died as the result of injuries.

Two Vancouver Men Hold Sweep Tickets
VANCOUVER (BUP)—Two Vancouver men were anxiously awaiting the result of Wednesday's big horse race in England. They hold Irish Sweepstake tickets on two horses entered in the Cambridgehire.

Holders of a ticket under the nom de plume of "Ogopogo," on Signalman, a 33-to-1 shot, are two Vancouver partners in a decorating firm. They are Harold Tite and Cyril Baker, both of 4336 Albert.

Neither plans on selling a half interest in their ticket, which could bring them more than $77,000 if Signalman wins.

Logger Found Dead At Cowichan Camp
John Rantella, 36, logger, Western Forest Industries Ltd., Meade Creek Camp, Lake Cowichan, was found dead in the camp at 7:15 Sunday evening. It was reported by Provincial Police today.

The logger was found dead face down in his bunk. Indications were that he died as the result of asphyxiation through natural causes. A post mortem has been ordered.

Sensationalism In British Press Gets Going-Over By M.P.

LONDON (AP)—A member of Parliament today accused the British press of giving prominence to "sex, sensationalism and sheer lies."

John Haire, Labor member for Wycombe, asked Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, in the House of Commons what steps had been taken to carry out recommendations of the Royal Commission on the Press.

The commission made an exhaustive report last summer on the practices of British newspapers.

The report called the British Press "the best in the world," but pointed out numerous instances of sensational treatment of news and of faulty reporting.

It asserted there is no press monopoly, took a firm stand against the government ownership of newspapers and against censorship, and advised newspaper proprietors to establish their own press council. This council would set up standards of good practice and provide for adequate education of prospective journalists.

Haire was cheered by Labor members of the House when he asked whether "there is not growing concern at the increased rumor mongering and wild speculation by the press."

Three Pipeline Concerns Now In Running For Alberta-Coast Link

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Three pipeline concerns were getting down to brass tacks today in the matter of a $100,000,000 plus natural gas pipeline from oil-rich Alberta to the Pacific northwest.

The West Coast Transmission Co., Vancouver, and the Alberta Natural Gas Co., Calgary, have been allowed by the Canadian Senate to be incorporated to build the pipeline. A third firm, Prairie Pipeline, also was in the running and was asking for permission to do the same thing.

The pipeline, varying in cost according to the companies, would run between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000. It would bring natural gas to the doorstep of industry in British Columbia, the State of Washington, the State of Oregon and northern California.

LARGE COMPANIES
At least two of the three competing organizations are fronts for large United States gas and pipeline concerns. West Coast Transmission is sponsored by Pacific Petroleum Ltd., in Canada, and in the United States by the Pacific Western Oil Co. of Los Angeles, Tidewater Associated Oil Co. of San Francisco and Sunray Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla. West Coast Transmission wants to pipe natural gas from northern Alberta fields.

The Alberta Natural Gas Co. is sponsored by Northwest Natural Gas Co., which works with United Gas Pipeline Co., Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. and El Paso Natural Gas Co. This firm wants to tap the southern Alberta oil fields.

Little is known so far about Prairie Pipeline, which entered the pipeline building race only recently. West Coast Transmission plans to slush natural gas 1,500 miles.

Former Singer Dies
TORONTO (CP)—H. Ruthven MacDonald, 84, former outstanding Canadian baritone, died Sunday.

Aged Veteran Dies

through a 26-inch pipeline from northern Alberta's Peace River district, due west to Dawson Creek, B.C., then via the Pine Pass to Prince George, through the B.C. Caribou country and the Fraser Valley to Vancouver, and on to Seattle. From Seattle it would go on to Tacoma, Olympia and Portland down to northern California, with a branch out to Walla Walla and Spokane.

On the other hand, the southern route preferred by Alberta Natural Gas Co.—which is about $20,000,000 cheaper—would go through Trail, B.C., crossing the border at Kingsgate, B.C., and going to Spokane, Walla Walla, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and northern California, with a branch curving up to Vancouver from Seattle.

BEFORE BOARD
All three competing companies will present applications to the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa Dec. 12 for permission to export natural gas from Canada to the United States. However, before the transport commissioners can approve, permission must be obtained from the Alberta government for export of the natural gas from that province. That is the stumbling block.

So far, Alberta has refused permission because, it says, it has not been proved the province has sufficient gas for its own needs.

THE SLAUGHTER CONTINUES

A SURVEY BY UNITED PRESS REveals that since Sept. 1 at least 78
United States hunters have met their death
in the field, 62 of them in gunshot accidents. The list of fatalities is not one to inspire much confidence in the ability of some citizens to keep out of trouble when in the woods. Some hunters were killed as they carelessly climbed over fences with loaded guns. Others were shot by their fellow hunters as they stalked furred or feathered quarry or carried out their spoils. One man in Washington, dressed in a white sweater to make himself more conspicuous, was shot for an albino deer!
In West Virginia an archer sent an arrow through the body of another bow and arrow hunter. The details behind the statistics provide sorry reading. As conservation experts point out, almost every one of the accidents was preventable, most arising from deliberate disregard of proven safety observances.

Although the local season has not produced a fatality, there has been a number of accidental injuries. The situation is given point by the $100 fine imposed on a Nanaimo hunter in Ladysmith police court
as the result of an incident in which the accused man's companion was seriously injured. The former had fired at an object moving in the bushes, believing it to be a deer.

It has become increasingly evident that something must be done to protect good hunters from their negligent fellows, and careless woodsmen from themselves.
Whether the answer lies in heavier penalties—and the results being obtained in connection with the campaign against drunken driving invite consideration—or in some other method of screening and control, we are not prepared to say. But the ridiculous slaughter and maiming that now feature the hunting seasons of all too many localities would seem to demand forceful steps by the authorities. A fool with a gun is a danger to the community.

THE PEOPLE DID IT

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S PARTICULAR interest in today's miniature "general election" is the contest in the important federal constituency of New Westminster.
We say this because that part of the province which has been so ably represented by Mr. (now Senator) Tom Reid in the House of Commons for so long, has just undergone a hectic campaign in which five candidates have told the voters why they should be sent to Ottawa to fill the seat
until recently occupied by the "Bagpipe King" of Parliament Hill.

Special interest centres in this fight in the "Royal City" because the Independent candidate has won the support of the Vancouver Daily Sun, known as of Liberal persuasion in its editorial policy, but which has now advocated the election of Mr.
Elmore Philpott, who writes a daily column,
with a definite "leftist" slant, in that admirable journal. Incidentally, the columnist-candidate still counts such Communist writers as Ilya Ehrenberg as "my friend," and the "Red Dean" of Canterbury as "a great soul." This, obviously, is his privilege. All we suggest here is that those of us who are scenting today's battle
from afar will note how our mainland contemporary has changed its policy in so short a time. For example, in an editorial on June 25, 1949, it had this to say,
in part:

"The Sun believes the Liberal Party will be returned to power on Monday. In their hearts,
the other parties admit it, too. . . . In the circumstances, Canadians in every riding must be concerned for one thing: that the victorious Liberal Party has sufficient seats in Parliament to govern for the good of the country without embarrassment or uncertainty."

The Vancouver Sun published that editorial two days before the people of Canada
went to the polls and endorsed the government of Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. Will anybody suggest that the popular mainland daily four months ago had in the back of its editorial mind the support of a candidate who, to all intents and purposes, seeks to enter the House of Commons for the sole purpose of whittling down, by one, the majority which his employer bespoke to enable a Parliament under Liberal guidance
"to govern for the good of the country without embarrassment or uncertainty?"

In the vernacular, then, where do we go from here? The Sun supplies the answer
as follows:

"We believe this Parliament requires a few competent critics with minds of their own. Right now the Liberal government has far too many supporters for its own good or the good of the country. . . . But every member might listen to a professional observer responsible only to his own conscience. . . ." and "Elmore Philpott . . . has a front-porch style entirely different from the ivory tower mannerisms of so many commentators and columnists."

For the life of us, however, we are at a loss to understand why the intelligent voters of New Westminster should hurry to the polls today to cast their ballots in accordance with the Vancouver Sun's thesis.

Nevertheless, our contemporary explains its change of view in the following final paragraph of the editorial to which we have referred:

"All of this is said without intention to dis-parage any of the candidates nominated in the Royal City by party organizations. It just happens, however, that Canada's twenty-first Parliament stands in greater need of effective and disinterested argument than of party regularity."

To what does all this amount? Put it this way: The Vancouver Daily Sun beseached the people of Canada to endorse the St. Laurent government last June 25
because it wanted an administration at Ottawa provided with sufficient support "for the good of the country." Less than four months later, the same newspaper implies that if the people of New Westminster elect a candidate who has been Liberal,
C.C.F.-er, and now an Independent—or what have you?—some kind of political alchemy
will be infused into the discussions at Ottawa that will exchange ivory-towerism for front-porchism.

THOUGHTFUL CANADIAN PARENTS have long been aware of the need to counteract the influence of those lurid
"crime comics" widely circulated among the young people of this Dominion. In Victoria strenuous efforts have been exerted
for years to eliminate this form of trash from the newsstands. In view of the local attitude, the announcement by Hon. Stuart Garson, Minister of Justice, that the government is prepared to take action on the subject, will win general approval.

Canadian homes will be far better off without this offensive material, and Canadian youngsters will lose little, if anything,
if the stream of pictorial sadism dries up.
Few of our people, however, will be under any illusions as to the difficulties faced by the government in any action that may be taken. Some of them have been indicated by provincial Attorneys-General in their efforts to register convictions under the "obscene literature" clause of the existing Code.

Opinions will be varied in respect to the "strips" which offend. As the Victoria Daily Times columnist noted last Friday,
members of Parliament expressed the view that those carried in newspapers are, on the whole, of a high standard, and that newspapers are to be congratulated on their own censorship of such matter. On the other hand, the point has been made by other analysts that even those "strips" which devote themselves to the triumph of right over evil introduce the violence and sadism of the malefactor, over whom victory is won, in such a way that the juvenile reader becomes well-schooled in the subject.

There are, nevertheless, splendid strips.
Bible stories, nature study, historical incidents, classical literature, all lend themselves to treatment through this medium.
It is used, moreover, to educational advantage in certain fields. In consequence, Parliamentarians were, as our columnist noted,
careful to differentiate between the good and bad.

But that in itself creates a problem.
Between the extremes of the vicious, which should be eliminated entirely, and the valuable, which should be preserved, there are border-line products. Who shall say whether or not publication of them should be permitted? This is where the dangers of censorship emerge.

Because Canadians in general object to censorship in general, some opposition may be expected. Prohibition is not the most desirable method of eliminating the evil.
It would be infinitely preferable if parents and guardians took on the job themselves—if by adult direction children were so discouraged from reading trash, and encouraged to turn to higher grade literature, that censorship was unnecessary. But too large a segment of the public is indifferent. The imposition of control must come from above. For that reason legislation on the issue appears imperative.

A LITTLE CONSIDERATION

THE MILK OF HUMAN KINDNESS HAS been mixed with printer's ink in the editorial of the current B.C. Teacher. In the article the writer makes a plea for new teachers entering strange communities,
often on their first professional assignment.
Described are the troubles of the initiate,
the difficulties of acquiring adequate housing, of making early contacts, and of overcoming the loneliness of an environment differing from that to which the teacher is accustomed.

The point is well taken. And it applies equally to other businesses and professions.
Too frequently the newcomer is left to his or her own devices at a time when a friendly
word, a little instruction in local practice,
and the extension of reasonable cordiality
would overcome the uncertainty and unhappiness of strange surroundings.
Teachers probably receive as much, if not more, assistance in this respect than do other men and women who must leave their homelands to obtain employment.

The message of the B.C. Teacher might be taken to heart by any number of concerns and businesses. It costs so little to extend the hand of friendship to the new man or woman who comes into the office
as a fellow-worker.

Atomic Prophecy

TWO YEARS BEFORE he died in 1873,
Lord Bulwer-Lytton wrote the fanciful novel "The Coming Race." It is less well-known than many of his other works, his historical fiction and some of his didactic compositions and his plays. But it assumes a place among prophetic writings in the light of world experience in 1949.

Part of the novel is devoted to the description of an imaginary people whose inventive genius had created for them a dilemma not dissimilar to that faced by present-day civilization through the development of nuclear fission. How this problem was met by the fictitious race is indicated in the following excerpt from the novel:

WHEN WHAT WE SHOULD TERM the historical age emerged from the twilight of tradition, the Ana were already established in different communities, and had attained to a degree of civilization very analogous to that which the more advanced nations above the earth now enjoy. They were familiar with most of our mechanical inventions, including the applications of steam as well as gas. The communities were in fierce competition with each other.
They had their rich and their poor; they had orators and conquerors; they made war either for a domain or an idea. Though the various states acknowledged various forms of government, free institutions were beginning to preponderate; popular assemblies increased in power; republics soon became general.

THE DEMOCRACY to which the most enlightened European politicians look forward as the extreme goal of political advancement, and which still prevailed among other subterranean races, whom they despised as barbarians, the loftier family of Ana, to which belonged the tribe
I was visiting, looked back to as one of the crude and ignorant experiments which belong to the infancy of political science.
It was the age of envy and hate, of fierce passions, of constant social changes more or less violent, of strife between classes, of war between state and state. This phase of society lasted, however, for some ages,
and was finally brought to a close, at least among the nobler and more intellectual populations, by the gradual discovery of the latent powers stored in the all-permeating
fluid which they denominated Vril.

ACCORDING TO THE ACCOUNT I received from Zee, who, as an erudite professor in the College of Sages, had studied such matters more diligently than any other member of my host's family, this fluid is capable of being raised and disciplined into the mightiest agency over all forms of matter, animate or inanimate. It can destroy like the flash of lightning; yet, differently applied, it can replenish or invigorate life, heal, and preserve; and on it they chiefly rely for the cure of disease, or rather for enabling the physical organization to re-establish the due equilibrium of its natural powers, and thereby to cure itself.

BY THIS AGENCY they rend way through the most solid substances, and open valleys for culture through the rocks of their subterranean wilderness. From it they extract the light which supplies their lamps, finding it steadier, softer, and healthier than the other inflammable materials they had formerly used.

But the effects of the alleged discovery
of the means to direct the more terrible force of vril were chiefly remarkable in their influence upon social policy. As these effects became familiarly known and skillfully administered, war between the vrildiscoverers ceased, for they brought the art of destruction to such perfection as to annihilate superiority in numbers, discipline, or military skill.

THE FIRE lodged in the hollow of a rod directed by the hand of a child could shatter the strongest fortress, or cleave its burning way from the van to the rear of an embattled host. If army met army, and both had command of this agency, it could be but to the annihilation of each. The age of war was therefore gone, but with the cessation of war other effects bearing upon the social state soon became apparent.

MAN WAS SO COMPLETELY at the mercy of man, each whom he encountered being able, if so willing, to slay him on the instant, that all notions of government by force gradually vanished
from political systems and forms of law.
It is only by force that vast communities,
dispersed through great distances of space,
can be kept together; but now there was no longer either the necessity of self-preservation or the pride of aggrandizement to make one state desire to preponderate in population over another.

SUCH WAS THE EVOLUTION of a social organization conceived by Bulwer-Lytton
out of the inevitability of self-destruction
that would have arisen from use of an all-powerful physical agency. This, of course, is offered in fiction. But so, too, were many forecasts of miracles which have become commonplace long after the oracles have departed. Viewed from the alternative of unbridled destructive use of atomic energy, "The Coming Race" may have set a pattern for 20th-century civilization to follow.—A.H.S.

Today the Communists are being purged out of the C.I.O. ranks. Their power and influence in the organized labor movement
in America are now negligible and will soon be nil.—A.F.L. president William Green.

Today's Specialty

Yugoslavia Another Greece?

By STEFFAN ANDREWS, from Washington
(North American Newspaper Alliance)

TOP diplomatic authorities in Washington fear that Russia is secretly forming a new Communist "International Brigade" for guerrilla raids against Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

One top-ranking diplomat believes that Yugoslavia may be turned into another Greece by the Soviets within the next six months.

FEARS EXPRESSED

While these fears are expressed largely by British diplomats in Washington, American diplomatic officials likewise say they have noticed a considerable slackening in the number of guerrillas infiltrating into Greece.

That may mean that guerrilla brigades are now being assembled for a series of raids against Yugoslavia rather than Greece.
It is pointed out, with the frontiers of neighboring Russian satellites serving as jumping-off points.

U.S. State Department officials admit they don't like the looks of the developing Soviet drive against Yugoslavia. However, they say the Department has no evidence that Russia might launch an open invasion against Yugoslavia.

Rather, intelligence dispatches
from abroad hint that the Russians may be thinking of springling a series of local-inspired guerrilla clashes in Yugoslavia from such adjoining Balkan satellites as Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

LAYING GROUNDWORK

Some British officials suggest that Hungary already may be laying the groundwork for such underground invasions by openly accusing Marshal Tito of conspiring against the Yugoslav people.

Naturally, such attackers
would pose as Yugoslav rebels against Tito, led by Yugoslav exiles, rather than as "brigades"

directed and financed directly by Moscow, one official points out.
British diplomatic officials claim it is this background of events that is principally responsible for the calling of the unprecedented mass meeting in London of all U.S. ambassadors from behind the Iron Curtain countries on October 24 and 25.

Although the meeting was announced for the purposes of combating Soviet propaganda,
much greater diplomatic importance than has hitherto been admitted is now attached to the hush-hush conferences.

ACTUAL REASON

The British say the actual reason for calling the meeting was to give American ambassadors a chance to get new signals
on the clouding Balkan situation.

The primary question on which the envoys will be briefed is what, if anything, the United States aims to do if the Soviets
turn Yugoslavia into another Greece.

Still A Delicate Problem

By BRUCE BLOSSAT, from New York

HOW LONG can Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia remain a thorn in Russia's side?

The Soviet Union and her eastern European satellites have scrapped wholesale the mutual aid and friendship treaties they had with Yugoslavia, emphasizing that stronger measures are in the making to stamp out Tito's mutiny.

PRESTIGE DAMAGED

Foreign affairs observers believe the Kremlin has decided it can no longer tolerate the challenge of Titoism. This rebellion tends more and more every day to damage Russian prestige before the world and undermine the jerry-built structure of Soviet relations with its immediate neighbors.

But it seems likely that Tito,

emboldened by economic aid from the United States and the prospect of more help from other western powers, will resist all attempts to crush him by mere political pressure and economic strangulation.

In fact, some American and British experts are said to have concluded that Moscow can only break Tito if it is willing to use the Red Army. Tito has already shown that he can deal effectively with Russian-inspired sabotage and guerrilla attacks. More strenuous tactics would appear to be the only other course open.

If invasion is indeed the sole avenue left to the irritated Soviet leaders, the question of how the attack might be managed to keep it from spreading to continent-wide or world conflict.

DISGUISED TROOPS?

One suggestion is that the Russians might employ assault units dressed up as anti-Tito Yugoslavs. The aim would be to give the world the impression that the outbreak was a civil uprising patterned on the Greek war. It could then be fed by men and materials pushed across Yugoslavia's borders by neighboring Russian satellites.

The approach is unlikely, however, to fool world opinion, no less than if the attack were an unconcealed Soviet enterprise.
Yugoslavia is certain to ask the United Nations, in such an event, to condemn the use of force against her.

However an attack would be mounted, the United States and other western nations probably would step up economic assistance to Tito and even send considerable amounts of military equipment.

This help almost certainly would fall short of any outright commitment to defend Tito with western armies. But the risk of involvement for the western powers would still be very great, inasmuch as Russia would feel compelled to choke off the flow of outside aid as completely as possible.

Things having gone as far as they have, is there any way of persuading the Soviet Union not to undertake this final critical stage in her effort to destroy Tito?

REALIZE RISK

Perhaps if Russia can be made to realize how great is the likelihood of an unmanageable
world war instead of a neatly controlled local conflict with Yugoslavia, she will be deterred
from using force.

She may conclude that it is better to live with a troublesome
thorn in her flesh than to hazard
a war that could inflict mortal wounds upon her and many other nations.

We blame the British for send-ling. With equal point they are blaming us for sending them

our grey squirrel.

A few pairs of them were introduced in Britain 60 years ago
from North America, as a curiosity. Now, according to London newspapers, they have multiplied beyond all reason and are spreading all manner of death and destruction among the native British squirrel and bird population.

They have so earned the displeasure of the people that they are no longer referred to as squirrels but as tree rats.

Like us with the sparrows and starlings, the British would gladly deport him if they could.
But they cannot and we cannot. All we can do is cuss the

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

PUBLIC pronouncements by the King and other immediate members of the Royal Family ordinarily are non-controversial and are sanctioned in advance by the Prime Minister's office, since the monarchy is constitutional.

For this reason Britain sat up and took notice when 22-year-old Princess Elizabeth, heiress to the Throne, made a public address in which she gave the country a good trouncing for lax morals.
She was speaking at a mothers'
union meeting and her remarks
were aimed primarily at divorce, which has increased heavily since
the outbreak of the last war.

"When we see around us the havoc which has been wrought, above all among the children, by the break-up of homes," said the Princess, "we can have no doubt that divorce and separation are responsible for some of the darkest evils in our society today. I do not think you can perform
any finer service than to help maintain the Christian doctrine that the relationship of the husband and wife is a permanent one, not to be lightly broken because of difficulties or quarrels."

THE BATTLE IS ON

This speech was the sharpest delivered by Royalty in recent years. It had the surprising effect of bringing a rebuke from the Marriage Law Reform Committee which broke the traditional attitude toward royal utterances by challenging her statement that divorces lead to many of Britain's social evils.

So a good-sized tempest has been brewed in the British teapot. One of the highly-interesting aspects of this development,
as I see it, rests in the fact that Mrs. Geoffrey Fisher, wife of the Archbishop of Canterbury, presided over the meeting at which the Princess spoke. Therefore it strikes me that Elizabeth must have had not only the approval of Prime Minister Attlee's office
but that of the head of the Church of England.

If that is so, what is the significance? Well, there are those in informed places who believe that Britain is ready for a moral and religious revival. They feel that the country won't overcome its economic troubles or regain its old status until there has been a tightening up of morality.

This column isn't predicting a religious revival in Britain, but merely is reporting a situation which exists.

AUTUMN RAIN

New York Times
In the city there is but one place to be when autumn rains come and that is indoors. Rain in the city seems to add to the complexity of traffic tangles; a line of snarling, impatient and wet
drivers stalled on a cross-town street is a good thing to stay away from. If one must go out the best time is at night, for then even an autumn rain can turn streets, drab by day, into wide strips of black silk, shot through with ripples of gold and silver.

HOUSEHOLD WIZARDS

British housewives are more than just housewives now—they are magicians. Their ingenuity, and their invention, would do credit to anyone who had been lucky enough to train under both Mrs. Beeton and Thomas Edison. Professional magicians saw a woman in half and get a lot of applause. British housewives take half of one's ration and make it into a full meal for four people and there's never so much as a single handclap.

SYMBOL WITH MEANING

the slower but nonetheless real progress of the U.N. ideal in world thinking.

"We cannot afford to underestimate the value of a symbol.
Even less can we afford to underestimate the unremitting necessity compelling men to continue their efforts to hammer

proximate more nearly the ultimate reality which inspires their dream."

Appeals To Public To Help Save Swan From Extinction

Help save the trumpeter swan,
the prince of North American waterfowl, from extinction by reporting appearances of the birds to the Provincial Museum.

C. J. Guiguet, museum biologist, said the public could render invaluable service in helping save this species by reporting
any bird which might come to their attention. The birds would be granted subsequent protection
by the Dominion Wildlife Service.

SHOOTING INEXCUSABLE

Mr. Guiguet, a keen hunter, said he felt that any hunter who shot a swan thinking he was killing a goose should not be in the field.

"The shooting of trumpeter
swans is inexcusable," he said.
"The prosecutions which follow
do not restore life or propagate young."

He said investigation by federal wildlife authorities indicated
the number of trumpeters were still dangerously low despite protective measures. Many of the birds were dying as the result of starvation, lead poisoning and parasitism.

The two adults and three cygnets
which wintered at Langford Lake died last winter probably due to lead poisoning, he said.
They disappeared one by one during the winter months. The remains of two were reported,
one of which was recovered and preserved as a skeleton at the museum.

Investigations have revealed that many of the birds die from starvation, he said. The birds are often found alive, but in a state of almost complete emaciation, incapable of flight.

Danish Radio Man Gathering Facts On Canadian Life

The people of Denmark are to get a first-hand insight into life
in Canada, thanks to the work currently being carried out by Palle Bojesen, producer for the Danish state radio.

Mr. Bojesen is now in Victoria
as part of a nation-wide tour
during which he is gathering material for a series of broadcasts on such subjects as the lumber, fishing and wheat industries.

But there is more to his visit here than that—he is making the acquaintance of many friends of his father, who lived here for several years before the First World War on land adjacent to the old Tolmie and Glendenning estates.

GETTING AROUND

Since he arrived on this continent at the end of June, the 35-year-old Dane has been getting around, and has seen much of Canada, which relatively few Canadians have seen.

He has been to Churchill, Yellowknife and the Alaska Highway, as well as to most major cities in the country.

But the most beautiful view he has seen in this country, he said, was that from the summit of Mount Douglas near this city.
Not only the view, but a lovely sunset impressed Mr. Bojesen from that point.

During his travels, he seeks Danes now residing in Canada and records their impressions of the country—both good and bad,
for, he said, he wants to give as true a picture as possible since many people in Denmark, who are considering emigrating from their homeland, are interested.

A teacher by trade, he has only been in radio two years.

While in Victoria, he has made records of the Navy Band and of the Victoria Youth Band. The latter group's selections will be played for children's broadcasts
in Denmark.

St. Mary's Guild Annual Banquet

About 120 parishioners were

St. Mary's Men's Guild, held in the church hall.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse, pastor of the Metropolitan Church, gave an eloquent and inspiring address on the unification of the church and the world's greatest need today, that of spiritual advancement and the acceptance of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Other speakers included Maj.
Morris, president of the guild;
Archdeacon A. deL. Nunns,
Reeve Woodton of Oak Bay, Mrs.
Philp, president of the Women's Guild and Mrs. Smithson, president of the senior branch of the Women's Auxiliary.

An entertainment program was provided by members of the Victoria Little Theatre and Madame Fahy's Singers. Madame Fahy sang two delightful songs. On behalf of the gathering Norman Williams thanked Dr. Whitehouse. Maj. Nation thanked the entertainers. The evening closed with the singing of God Save the King.

Optimist Week To Be Observed Nov. 6-13

Nov. 6 to 13 will be Optimist
Week, it has been announced by George Gordon, president of the Victoria Optimist Club. The week will be observed by more than 50,000 members of Optimist Clubs throughout Canada, the United States, Cuba, Puerto Rico and Mexico.

Local members are busy drawing up plans for meetings and parties to mark the week in Victoria. Complete details will be announced later, Mr. Gordon said.

There was more to being "optimistic" than merely wearing a broad smile, he said.

Disease-Resistance
Research Believed
Yielding New Clues

CHICAGO (AP) — Discovery of a neat triple play combination within the body — involving a mechanism believed by some doctors to be linked in some ways with disease resistance — has been reported by a Harvard researcher.

The report was made to the American College of Physicians. Dr. David M. Hume's report of work in dogs also described suggestive—though not conclusive—evidence of the existence of a new and unsuspected "hormone," or chemical messenger, originating within the brain.

Other doctors who heard his report said that if the existence of such a specific substance is definitely established, and the material is identified and isolated, this is a possibility.

Studies might be undertaken to determine if such a substance could be produced synthetically—and in greater quantities—than ACTH and cortisone, two scarce substances that have shown remarkable promise against arthritis, rheumatic fever and certain other conditions.

Their comment was based on Dr. Hume's declaration that he had discovered a physiological link between a certain area of the brain and the two glandular systems responsible for the normal production of ACTH and cortisone in the body.

They said that if the existence of another hormone can be established at the beginning of this network, such a substance would be equally as important as ACTH or cortisone—providing it were possible to prepare it.

Ivan S. Day who has recently returned from a year's visit to Australia will show rare and educational sound and color films at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening next at 7:30. St. Andrew's Welfare Association is sponsoring the showing and net proceeds from the collection will send food over to Britain. Last year over 1,000 pounds of food were sent and a larger quantity will go forward this year.

Indians Cut, Bruised In Car-Bus Smash

The 10 Indians in the sedan in these pictures were taken to hospital to be treated for non-serious hurts at 12:20 Sunday afternoon after the car had been in collision with a naval transportation service bus on Four Mile Hill, Island Highway. According to Constable Bud Godfrey of the B.C. Police highway patrol, Gilbert Livingstone, Lake Cowichan, was driving out of town when a front tire blew out and the car wound up by crashing into the side of the town-bound naval bus, driven by Ernest Milliken, Suite 11, 800 Topaz Avenue. The impact knocked the bus differential out of commission and wrecked the braking system. Milliken, according to the constable, expertly guided the bus on the downhill grade into the bank to stop it. Milliken and his two passengers escaped unhurt. Mrs. Livingstone and her daughter, Vera, were kept in hospital overnight for observation.

Victoria College News

Victoria College Forum first debate was on the subject "Should the B.C. Electric Be Publicly Owned?"

Pat Thomas, first speaker for the affirmative, presented his argument in a clear and concise manner, quoting a number of examples of successful public ownership.

Alvin Gilchrist explained why the B.C. Electric had been forced to increase bus rates.

Garth Godwin attempted to refute some of Mr. Gilchrist's statements. Peter Henslow summed up the argument for the negative.

Bruce Young, president of the forum, organized voting after the debate. The result was a 57 to 44 majority for public ownership.

The first edition of the Martlet was issued on Thursday. The college paper is being sold for 10 cents to help meet the cost of printing.

The Martlet featured an "Inquiring Reporter" column on the subject of cocktail bars in Victoria, a resume of summer activities of the University Naval Training Division and a humorous article on the tourist industry in Victoria.

Editor in chief of the Martlet is John Napier-Hemy; news editor, Dick Baker; business managers, Doreen Collier and Tania Humes; sports editor, Denny Boyd.

A pep meeting was held in the auditorium yesterday for the benefit of the senior A rugby team.

The meeting featured a pep talk by Prof. Wallace, who was responsible for the newly-formed rugby club; a skit portraying a Russian spy organization, known as the "Satanic Underground," and a rally by cheer leaders, Phil Wakelyn and Joan Milloy. Dave Mollett, John Napier-Hemy and Reg Lott were in charge of production. Conna Wood was responsible for stage management and lighting effects.

The Women's Undergraduate Society annual celebration was held in the college cafeteria. After a delicious dinner of spaghetti, served Italian style, the girls had a record session, games and a sing-song. Miss Phyllis Baxendale, staff supervisor, and Jean McKee, W.U.G.S. president, convened the affair.

Says Little Matter With Arena Roof

There is little the matter with the concrete, barrel roof of the Memorial Arena as far as the Arena Commission is concerned.

William Bridgewood, lone member of the commission available today for comment, said the question had never been discussed by the commission and "if it was very serious we would know about it."

Mr. Bridgewood said he had heard one report there was a leak in the roof.

"But I have never seen a leak and I am in the arena often enough," he said.

Employees at the rink pointed out that, as in any building of its kind, the Memorial Arena requires minor alterations and adjustments to suit local conditions, but talk of major repairs being required on the roof was nonsense.

The reports were highly exaggerated. Expansion joints in the roof had shown signs of dampness in recent heavy rain, but it was not serious.

Federal Government Prepares To Sell Great Butter Holdings

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is about ready to go out of business as Canada's biggest butter customer.

With the surplus production season nearing its end, government purchases as price-support action also are declining. The big job now will be to sell what it has accumulated and this job, Agricultural Minister Gardiner said recently, likely will not be difficult.

For one thing the market doesn't know for certain how much butter the government has accumulated. Dairy leaders know there is about 70,000,000 pounds in store. They don't know how much belongs to the government.

Mr. Gardiner likely will act cautiously in his butter disposals, watching how the market acts, how much goes out of storage and what the public consumes.

Normally, Canadians use about 23,000,000 pounds a month. During the winter season—when butter is scarce—production is too small to match the monthly demand.

Those will be the months the minister likely will move, fast, shipping butter out as quickly as the public buys it.

CARLOAD LOTS

He has said the agriculture department will sell without discrimination to anyone who can afford to buy in carload lots.

Prices will approximate the average 58 cents a pound the government has paid as price support during the summer months, plus the cost of storage. In other words, Mr. Gardiner doesn't expect to lose any money over the butter deal. Neither does he hope to make any. All he wants is to break even.

If he can't sell all of the surplus in domestic markets, he likely will look outside Canada for customers, and if he does, it will be the first time in many years that Canada has gone beyond her shores to sell that dairy product.

Mount Newton School Notes

Mount Newton students have had a busy week of extra-curricular activities. The boys' soccer team defeated North Saanich, 2 to 0, in a hard-played game on the North Saanich grounds. A scoreless game until early in the second half, when Lamont Brooks drove the ball hard through the goal to mark the first point for Mount Newton. About the middle of the second half Ken Curl gave Mount Newton a safe margin with a second point. North Saanich proved weak on offence, being able to make only three rushes at Mount Newton's goal, Bobby Jones. On the good North Saanich defence, Jimmie Gilbert saved many goals for his team.

Players for Mount Newton—Bob Jones (goal), J. Patterson, H. Steele, D. Varley, F. Preston, R. Anfield, B. Dudman, K. Curl, L. Brooks, P. Punt, R. Karadimas.

Players for North Saanich—Jim Gilbert, Dave Christian, George Aylard, Ron Pearson, Ray Wilson, Bill Howlett, Joe Schmidt, Alf Schmidt, Bob Steele, Art Olsen.

Referee—A. W. Murphy.

Students and teachers are looking forward to the early use of the tennis court, whose construction has been sponsored by the Ward Six P.T.A. Recently a bee was held for the surfacing, with the following members of the P.T.A. assisting: Adrian Butler, Tom Mitchell, J. Tubman, M. Connor, L. Millar, P. Thomas, Ken Thompson, A. E. Vogee, Mrs. A. Butler and Mrs. Joyce provided refreshments. During the week, students under the direction of Mr. C. H. Bennell have been stringing wire. Others have been busy rolling the surface.

A recent visitor to the school was Capt. Moss of the Saanich Fire Department, who spoke to an assembly of the students on the subject of fire prevention.

Annual photos, taken by photographer Wilfrid Gibson, are now in distribution.

Friday evening the students held their first school dance for the year. Through the courtesy of the Saanich School Board, the Saanich hall was made available for this function.

Decorations in the traditional orange and black were prepared through the help of L. Millar and artistically arranged by Barbara Foster, Helene Turner, Albert Hafer, Edith Rodstrom, and Ronald Karadimas. Murray Foster acted as master of ceremonies for the dance numbers. Norman Lindstrom and Doris Cadwallader, assisted by Mrs. L. Steele of the P.T.A., were in charge of refreshments. Music was provided by Harold's Lumberjacks. Prizes for the novelty dances were presented to Vivian Lindstrom and Bud Holm; Ken Curl and Dorothy Scott; Lorne Combs and Edith Rodstrom.

Supervision for the party was provided by Mr. A. E. Vogee, Mrs. M. Sampson, Mr. L. Millar.

Vets Of France, Whitney's Score Soccer Victories

Whitney's defeated Heaney's 2 to 1 and Veterans of France blanked Beacon Taxi 2 to 0 in first division juvenile soccer games Sunday.

Lorne Oakley scored both goals late in the second half to give the Vets of France their triumph. Glen Bath in the Vets' goal turned in a spectacular performance.

Francis Evans scored Whitney's two goals. Smith counted Heaney's lone marker. McMillan played well in goal for Heaney's to keep the score down.

On Saturday, Careys remained on top of the third division circuit by stopping Y.M.C.A. 2 to 0. Knights of Pythias trounced St. Saviours 6 to 2 in a fourth division game and Bluebird Cabs shut out St. Louis College in an exhibition contest, 6 to 0.

Phil Fillion and Gerry Rovers scored for Careys. Jack Wren netted three markers in the cabbies' win, Singh scoring two and Bob Hitchen the other.

In a division five match, James Bay walloped Five Points Bakery 6 to 0.

Costs For Farmers At All-Time High; Largely Seasonal

OTTAWA (CP)—Almost all the things farmers have to buy or pay for were higher during recent months, sending the farm-costs index to a new peak.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Saturday that the composite price index of commodities and services used by the farmer—including living costs—rose from 191.1 in April to 192.3 in August. The August figure compares with 190.1 for the same month a year ago.

Based on the index of 100 for the 1935-39 period, over-all farm-costs are almost double what they were 10 years ago.

The index for farm costs, exclusive of living costs, advanced from 202.9 for April to 204.2 in August—slightly above the previous peak of 203.7 recorded a year earlier.

The bureau said the increase since April is largely seasonal and was due to higher farm wage rates and increased farm living costs. Trends showed little variation between eastern and western Canada.

Reflecting costs for food, clothing, household equipment and miscellaneous items right across Canada, the index of farm family living costs rose from 173.3 for April to 174.5 in August. The latest index figure was five points above what it was in August a year ago. Fuel costs moved lower during the four months while costs of health maintenance remained unchanged.

City Kiwanians Flying To Salem

A capital-to-capital plane ride has been arranged for 28 members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

The club men will leave here shortly after noon Tuesday for Salem, capital of Oregon, in a chartered Trans-Canada Air Lines plane. Inter-club visits by Victoria and Salem Kiwanians have become an annual affair. Don Smith, president of the Victoria club, will head the visiting delegation. Trade and Industry Minister Leslie Eyres will accompany the party to represent the provincial government.

The Governor of Oregon and a representative of the State of Washington will be on hand at a Salem dinner meeting to welcome the visitors.

The Victoria men will return home Wednesday.

Of Personal Interest

Mrs. M. Bradshaw and Mrs. H. Ellis of Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Volsey of Vancouver were among guests at the Harvey-Bentley wedding Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mickelson, who are spending several days in Vancouver, will attend graduation ceremonies at University of British Columbia on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. Mickelson will receive his degree as Master of Social Work. Mr. and Mrs. Mickelson are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hollins while in the mainland city.

Among guests attending the Jones-Earle wedding Saturday evening were Mrs. Ward Miller, aunt of the bride, from Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Vancouver; Miss Elsie Johnston, Ashcroft; and Mr. Lorne Earle, brother of the bride, from Westbank, B.C.

Miss Clara Lee Kettle of Indianapolis, Ind., supreme queen of Daughters of the Nile, will be in the city this Friday. In her honor a ceremonial will be held in the afternoon and in the evening the supreme queen will be honored at a dinner in Duke of Kent Room, Empress Hotel.

Mrs. H. J. Cunningham was a coffee party hostess at her Franklin Terrace home Sunday morning. Her guests included her daughter, Miss Jody Cunningham, and her fiancé, Mr. Clifford Irvine Jr., members of their wedding party, and those who will assist at the wedding reception. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fawcett, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Aldersmith, Mr. and Mrs. George Cradick, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. V. Fugle, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Brown, Misses Ida Crispin, Myrtle Thomson, Dorothy Adams, Lorna Webb, Bernice Edwardson, and Messrs. R. Dickie of Duncan, John Moore, R. Reid and William Cunningham.

Mr. A. C. Rideout, Vancouver, who has recently returned from a trip to England, where he visited five sisters and two brothers, was the recent guest in Victoria of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pendray, 3850 Saanich Road. During his stay, Mr. and Mrs. Pendray entertained at a family dinner party in his honor, on the occasion of his 80th birthday. There were 27 relatives present, among whom were two sons, Cecil and Ernest Rideout, and their wives, also 10 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rideout, Vancouver, was unable to be present.

Gwenith Earle Wears Mother's Veil With Period Bridal Gown

A graceful, full-length veil, first worn by her mother, misted the old-world portrait gown of Gwenith Earle for her marriage to Stanley William Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. William George Jones of Sechart, B.C., Saturday evening at 8.30.

Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiated at the double-ring ceremony in St. Aidan's United Church. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Campbell Earle, 1765 Mortimer Street, wore her groom's gift of pearl earrings, and pearls were repeated in her coronet headdress, and on the molded bodice of her gown, fashioned with lily point sleeves.

William Smith of Vancouver was best man, and Lorne C. Earle with Gordon Cawsey seated guests.

Miss Isabelle Pike sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. T. G. Griffiths at the organ. The couple received guests later at E. Athona Hotel, where a four-tier wedding cake, tall lighted candles and vases of flowers, decked the bride's table.

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at the Times Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines and 15¢ for each additional line.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lassen, Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty June, to Mr. David Evan Minckler, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Minckler, 2363 Pacific Avenue. The wedding will take place at St. Matthias Church, November 18, 1949, at 8 p.m.

Dilys Jones, Lisle Kinnee Wed In St. Barnabas Church

Families here and on the mainland were joined at the Saturday evening service in St. Barnabas' Church uniting Miss Dilys Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jones, 2311 Blanshard Street, and Lisle Kerr Kinnee, son of Mrs. E. H. Kinnee, New Westminster, and the late Mr. Kinnee.

Masses of autumn-hued blossoms were placed on either side of the altar for the service read by Rev. E. Munn.

Her groom's gift, a matching rhinestone necklace and earrings were her only jewels.

Three attendants wore similar bustle-backed taffeta gowns. Matron of honor, Mrs. T. L. Muir, was in cameo pink, and senior attendants, Miss Anne Jones, sister of the bride, and Mrs. J. Murdoch, wore yellow and blue respectively. All had heart-shaped headresses and elbow gloves in matching net and carried crescent bouquets.

Best man was Vere Ritchards, Usher were Ievan Jones, brother of the bride, and Fred Barr.

Autumn flowers were arranged in Liberal Hall for the reception. The bride's table was set with a three-tier cake, and flanked with vases of flowers. Stan Jones proposed the toast.

Assisting as servers were Mesdames J. Smith, J. Pritchard, V. Ritchards and Misses M. MacArthur, D. Mauro, B. Cummings, B. Ritchards and C. Hocking.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Seattle and Tacoma on their honeymoon motoring trip, the bride wearing a teal blue gabardine suit, burgandy topcoat and black accessories.

Their new home will be at Kingsway, Burnaby.

First American tanner of glazed kid (then called morocco) was Lord Timothy Dexter, a self-styled American nobleman.

Great Tasks Are Still Ahead
Auxiliary Board Is Told

An enthusiastic tribute to the work of the woman's auxiliary in the church, especially in missionary dioceses at home and abroad, was given by the Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, Primate of all Canada, at the monthly meeting of the British Columbia Diocesan Board of the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary, held in Memorial Hall recently.

The Primate pointed out the work that must be done in the middle and northern part of Canada, to follow the sacrifices and service of early missionaries. He also spoke of opportunities in India, Japan and in China, where work is still being carried on by native workers trained by missionaries in the past.

"The task," he said, "is as wide as the whole world."

Diocesan president, Mrs. R. O. Taylor, welcomed the Primate and Mrs. Kingston, who also spoke briefly, bringing greetings from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific.

Mrs. E. Hart, first vice-president, Cathedral Senior W.A., gave the address of welcome; Mrs. S. H. Patridge, the scripture reading and morning and noonday prayers were taken by Mrs. Taylor and Rev. A. H. Cummings respectively.

During the meeting a life membership in the Dominion board was presented to Mrs. J. L. Hazlehurst, Sidney Afternoon Branch. Mrs. Taylor conducted the service; Mrs. F. F. Forner pinned on the badge and Mrs. H. Atkin presented the certificate.

Reports of the annual meeting of the Dominion board of the W.A., at Saint John, N.B., were given by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. F. Goodwin, who also spoke of the forthcoming visit of the Dominion girls' supervisor, Miss J. Williston, who will hold leadership training courses here from Oct. 26 to Nov. 5, with a girls' auxiliary rally in the Memorial Hall on Nov. 5 at 2 p.m., and a junior rally at the Cathedral on Oct. 29 at 2.15 p.m.

Dorcas secretary, Mrs. A. Roach, just returned from a visit to the Indian school at Alert Bay, made an appeal for an assistant seamstress for the school. A bursary of $100 was voted for a student at Wycliffe College, Toronto.

Next meeting of the board will be held on Nov. 18 at St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, commencing at 10.30 a.m.

Winnifred Watson,
William Aitken Wed
In Afternoon Rites

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the scene of a quiet wedding Saturday afternoon at 3, uniting Winnifred Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, 1102 Rock Street, and William G. Aitken, 2872 Inez Drive. Rev. J. L. McLean officiated and C. C. Warren played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother John, the bride wore an aqua gabardine suit with pearl grey accessories. She carried a white prayer book mounted with gardenias and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Verne Strickland, matron of honor, wore wine accessories and corsage bouquet of roses. With her powder blue suit, Walter Meredith was best man for the groom.

Jack Quennell proposed the toast to his niece at a reception held at Wishbone Grill, attended by relatives of the bride and groom.

The newlyweds left by plane for the mainland and will return to make their home in this city.

Children's Aid
Receives Gift

Miss Alisa Bishop, Children's Aid and Family Welfare Society, guest speaker at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Victoria Lion's Auxiliary held at Strathcona Hotel, was presented with a collection of baby's garments knitted by auxiliary members, following her address.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Doris Gilson, president. Mrs. J. Roberts made the presentation and Mrs. Hilda Emery expressed thanks of the gathering for the interesting address.

Cousin Here From California Attends Bride Agnes Bentley

The bride's cousin came by plane from San Francisco to be sole attendant for Miss Agnes Allison Gifford Bentley when she became the bride of Frederick J. Harvey Saturday at 8.30.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was decorated with tall baskets of mauve and white chrysanthemums for the ceremony read by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bentley, 1733 Kings Road, and son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Harvey, 1036 Kings Road.

White figured silk lace, yoked in net and with lily point sleeves, and full skirt sweeping into a brief train was worn by the bride. Her necklace was of pearls and she had identical pearl brooches at the shoulder line of her gown. Her filmy chapel veil was held with a coronet, and she carried a cascade of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Millicent Hunter, honor maid for her cousin, was in contrasting pale blue marquisette, the diaphanous skirt posed over taffeta, and dainty shoulder cape edged in stiffened lace. She wore lace mitts and taffeta Dutch cap and carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by his brother, George Harvey, as best man. Ushers were Bill Steadman and Gordon Harvey.

A reception for 180 guests was held at Loughheed's Banquet Hall where wedding gifts were displayed. A three-tier cake was cut by the newlyweds.

Later they left for the mainland, the bride wearing a saxe blue frock with accordin-pleated skirt and cap sleeves, a cherry-red topcoat and black accessories.

Their new home will be at 1030 Empress Avenue.

Flight Nurse Takes Medical Aviation

TORONTO (CP)—Pretty Irene Sutherland of Regina, senior flight nurse of Saskatchewan's air ambulance is the only woman taking a medical aviation course now under way here.

Miss Sutherland, a former army nurse who wanted to fly but found she wasn't small enough to be a stewardess, now is one of three nurses flying out of Regina to bring emergency patients to hospitals.

Her chief interest in the medical aviation course she is the only non-doctor enrolled—is to discover what effects the flights have on the patients. She is particularly interested in the effect of altitude on heart patients.

PROPER CARE CHANGED THIS FOUR-YEAR-OLD'S PERSONALITY

Helpful experiences are always welcome to this department even if no promise can be made to publish all of them. But here is a concrete example of how good care made over a little boy and mothers would do well to heed it. "My niece's little boy was one of the most nervous, ill-mannered, mean little boys I have ever seen. He chewed his nails constantly; he picked his toes until he had open sores.

"She was called away on business and asked me to look after him and I led with my chin and said yes. I felt that my niece had always thought first of her own good time and the boy's bedtime varied from 7 to midnight. I had begged her to do differently but like all young people she wanted no advice from anyone over 40.

"I first took the boy to a doctor who advised only regular hours, regular meals and a tonic. The first few nights it was midnight before he slept. I felt like a brute but I got him up at 7 a.m. and raced him around all morning, fed him a nourishing lunch at 11:30 and had him in bed by 12.

"At first he was restless and cried in his sleep. He played hard for an hour or two after his nap, then I made him be quiet before dinner. My husband took him for a walk after dinner and then we read to him. He was in bed by 7:30. The first week we nearly the death of us, the second better, the third began to show dividends and the last week repaid us for everything.

"Each night he went to sleep earlier and the last week, in 15 minutes and slept quietly all night. His nails began to grow, his feet healed. He began to mind us. He quit lolling on the table at mealtimes and sat up and ate like a man. He added pounds to his weight. The last week we had him for an angel and we enjoyed every minute with him. "I had taken a little brat of four and turned back to his mother a sweet, docile child. His whole appearance was so changed his mother just gazed at him open-mouthed.

"If young mothers would just sacrifice a few good times the reward would be so wonderful." Our leaflet No. 29 "Menus For the Child From Five to Eight," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Myrtle Eldrid in care of this newspaper.

Couples' Club To Sponsor Film

Plans for a showing of a film taken by E. Foles, titled "The Seasons," were made at a meeting of First United Church Couples Club, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McDuffee, 168 Barkley Street.

The hour-long film, taken in Beacon Hill Park, presents the four seasons of the year in the happy medium of color. It will be shown in the church school room on Nov. 2 at 8 o'clock, as a climax to the fall fair and bazaar in the church gymnasium and the church supper planned for the same day.

President George Waddell conducted the business meeting and later in the evening a Hallowe'en social of games was enjoyed and refreshments served by the hostess.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Rev. F. W. Anderson, 3435 Cook Street, on Nov. 4.

Today's Recipe

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb
Three to 4 lbs. boned shoulder roast of lamb, salt and pepper, 3 cups bread dressing.

Have butcher remove all bones from roast and leave it flat. (Be sure to take home bones for soup). Wipe meat with damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Make 3 cups bread dressing and use to fill cavity in roast. Sew or skewer up the open side. Place meat on a rack in an uncovered pan and do not add water. Roast in a moderate oven, 325 degrees F., to 350 degrees F., allowing 25 to 30 minutes per lb., for medium-done roast and 30 to 35 minutes per pound for well-done roast. If a meat thermometer is used, it should register 175 degrees F. for medium and 180 F. for well-done roast.

If desired, the outside of the roast may be rubbed with a cut clove of garlic or the surface of the roast may be sprinkled with salt, pepper and a little margarine and the mixture rubbed into the meat.

A delicious glaze to coat roast lamb is made by adding 1/2 teaspoon of dry mustard and 2 teaspoons of vinegar to 1/2 cup mint jelly. If this is spread over the roast 10 minutes before it is removed from the oven it gives extra crispness and flavor.

Says Landowners Should Help Pay Education Costs

COURTENAY—Education Minister W. T. Straith made it clear here Friday night that the provincial government considered the share of the sales tax paid to municipalities as a contribution toward the cost of education.

The government had no wish to tell the municipalities how they should use their portion of sales tax, he said, since local improvements are the concern of the municipalities.

"But education is a general thing and we want to help the municipalities which are burdened with school taxes," he said.

The minister, who was addressing an audience of 200, disagreed with the suggestion by Joseph Hitchen, Courtenay alderman, that the government should keep the entire revenue of the sales tax and assume the entire cost of education.

"We feel that some of the cost of education should be borne by the landowners," he said.

GRADING EXPLAINED

Mr. Straith explained the department's policy toward examinations, saying that examinations were no longer considered a fair system to grade school pupils.

"Instead, we classify them according to their I.Q. so that the work of a low student is graded at his own level rather than at the level of the brightest student," he said.

This did not mean, however, that whole classes would be taught at the level of the least intelligent pupil, he continued. He said teachers were instructed to find means of keeping brighter students busy while bringing along those of low I.Q.

SQUID STRIKE

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Various reports of squid in Newfoundland waters have been heard here. Some squid were taken at Portugal Cove, and northern fishermen say squid have also appeared near Twillingate.

New Block Stores Plan At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—The Victoria Lumber Company's store building, a Chemainus landmark, will be demolished to make way for seven new stores, it was announced over the week-end. The building has been in use for 70 years as a trading post, commissary, church, warehouse, private residence, and meeting house.

A new block to take its place will house a restaurant, dry-goods store, butcher shop, men's clothing store and other businesses.

St. Mary's Men's Guild will meet in the Guild Hall next Thursday at 8. The speaker will be Canon R. Willis.

1,000 Canadian Children Needing Foster Homes Now

OTTAWA (CP)—Foster homes are needed immediately for more than 1,000 Canadian children, the Canadian Welfare Council said today.

The figure is contained in a report released today following a survey by the council. The shortage of foster homes at Toronto was reported to be so "acute" that social workers there were forced to use their own homes as temporary shelters for children.

"It is easy to forget that for every child available for adoption, there are several others—equally in need of a home—who cannot be adopted," said Phyllis Burns, secretary of the Council's Child Welfare Division.

The number of foster homes needed in four typical centres is listed by the council as follows: Halifax 140, Montreal 119, Toronto 171, Winnipeg 150. A report from Vancouver said the situation there is "tight but not serious."

"Children's agencies all across the country have long waiting lists of parents who want to adopt a child," said Miss Burns. "This certainly is not the case for children who need foster homes."

BROKEN FAMILIES

Children in need of foster homes are often members of broken families or are from homes where sickness or other causes make it impossible for them to receive proper care.

Some are orphans or have been abandoned. They may be babies, six-year-olds, or teen-agers.

The main thing is that they are not adoptable, perhaps because their parents hope eventually to give them a home or because they are for some reason difficult to place.

DISEASE SCOURGE

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Nearly everyone knows that a test can be made of the blood which will show whether or not a person is infected with syphilis. With the aid of this test, extensive campaigns have been made against syphilis because this disease could be eliminated altogether if all cases were discovered and made non-infectious early.

Tests made on large groups of a population have shown anywhere from about one person in a thousand to five persons in a hundred to have this infection.

The delicate flavor of salmon is pleasing to nearly everyone's taste, and with so many new ways of serving it being discovered every day, there is unlimited variety. Your family will like this appetizing meal.

IN RICE NESTS

Two cups rich cream sauce, 1 egg yolk, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 pound can salmon, 1 small can mushrooms, 1 cup rice, 2 hard cooked eggs.

Beat egg yolk slightly and add to the hot cream sauce with the lemon juice. Add the salmon and the sliced mushrooms and heat thoroughly. Boil the rice, drain and form in mounds on plates; then make depression in mounds to form nests. Fill with salmon mixture. Cut hard-cooked eggs in quarters lengthwise and garnish each serving with one.

Seattle Regains Lead In Coast Ice League

Seattle's Ironmen again are undisputed leaders of the northern division Pacific Coast Hockey League.

They beat the Los Angeles Monarchs 5 to 3 last night to go ahead two points in the standings ahead of the idle New Westminster Royals who pulled into a tie Saturday.

Rudy Fillion, Seattle centre, widened his lead in the league scoring race with four points on a goal and three assists. He now has 17 points.

The Portland Penguins defeated Los Angeles 6 to 4 Saturday night despite Bill McCracken's two first-period goals for the losers.

The New Westminster Royals overpowered the Tacoma Rockets 7 to 2, in a game marked by only three penalties.

RETAIN SOUTHERN LEAD

The San Francisco Shamrocks maintained their southern division lead by beating Oakland for the second consecutive night 4 to 1.

The second place San Diego Skyhawks kept pace by handing the Fresno Falcons their second straight loss 7 to 5.

Victoria Cougars held a strenuous workout at the Memorial Arena this morning in preparation for their game here tomorrow night against Los Angeles.

Wenatchee Ball Franchise Goes To Tri-Cities

TACOMA (AP)—Western International League directors Sunday formally approved the transfer of the Wenatchee baseball franchise to the Tri-Cities area embracing Kennewick, Pasco and Richland, Washington.

League president Robert B. Abel said after the directors' meeting that the name "Tri-Cities Team" was adopted officially.

A final O.K. on the shift was given when it was shown to the directors' satisfaction that a ball park and stands would be ready by the opening of the season next spring.

Tentative approval was voted at a league meeting in Seattle 30 days ago. During the interim, the Tri-Cities backers were to get plans for the field under way.

PARK TO SEAT 5,000

Representatives from the three cities told the directors today that a 10-acre former vineyard had been purchased near Kennewick, sodding had been completed, a diamond plotted and work begun on a fence, grandstand and bleachers. The park will have a capacity of approximately 5,000.

Here for the Tri-Cities Athletic Association were Les Babcock, president; Bob Phillips, co-publisher of the Scott Publishing Co., and Harry Owens, Kennewick businessman. The franchise holders were represented by Dick Richards, business manager, and Hunkie Shaw of Yakima, part owners of the team.

The next meeting of the league will be Nov. 7 at Salem, Ore., when several league matters held in abeyance from yesterday's gathering will be taken up.

To Decide Navy Golf Champion Wednesday

The 1949 Royal Canadian Navy handicapped-golf champion will not be known until Wednesday.

Finalists CPO. Holland and Lieut. Gigg finished yesterday's 36-hole final all square and will battle it out for the title at Gorge Vale over the 18-hole route Wednesday.

Admiral DeWolf defeated PO. J. Ross in the first-flight final. Second-flight honors went to CPO. Scott with a victory over PO. Nelson.

CPO. Pumphrey defeated Mr. Keen for the third-flight championship. LS. Bennett defeated Lieut. Power in the fourth-flight final. Chaplain MacLean defeated PO. Nixon for fifth-flight honors and CPO. Butt trimmed CPO. Nixon in the sixth-flight final.

Prizes were presented in the CPO. Mess following the tournament by Admiral DeWolf.

Finlay At 40 Still Topping The Timbers

LONDON (CP)—A grey-headed R.A.F. Wing-Commander with two decades of athletic supremacy behind him, and a schoolboy's heart in a 40-year-old body, will lead England's track-and-field squad in the 1950 British Empire Games in New Zealand.

Donald Finlay, D.F.C., A.F.C., came back from a distinguished wartime career—in which he led a fighter squadron in the Battle of Britain and later served in Malaya—to win a place on his third Olympic team and later to better his own national mark for the 120-yard hurdles.

When he chalked up a blazing 14.4 in a Britain-France match at White City Stadium here only a few weeks ago, he announced it marked "positively my last appearance" in competitive athletics.

HE'LL BE THERE
English selectors had heard that one before. They put the finger on Finlay to represent his country at Auckland in February. Barring accidents, Don will be soaring over the sticks again then.

The cinder-track exploits which Finlay has written into the record-book could be listed by the chapter. Here are a few of them:

He won 11 consecutive R.A.F. hurdles championships.

He won seven consecutive A.A.A. championships before the war and added another this year.

He has broken 15 seconds for the 120-yard hurdles at least 75 times.

OLYMPIC RECORD
In Olympic competition he ran third in the 1932 Games at Los Angeles and second to the great Forest (Spec) Towns of the United States at Berlin in 1936.

In last year's Games at London Finlay had cruel luck. Leading his field by a wide margin in the opening heat, he hit the last hurdle, stumbled, fell heavily to the track, rolled over and over—and finished flat on his face inches short of the finish line while his opponents stored past.

Finlay doesn't hit many hurdles.

End Of The Line

John Shipley, Victoria College forward, is pulled down from behind by Miller on this run in Saturday's English rugby game against Canadian Services College at Macdonald Park. McCaffrey, College wingman, is on extreme right. Reg Lott, College forward, is next to Shipley ready to take pass. College Vikings won game 24 to 0.

Stamps Taste First Defeat In Two Years; Eastern Leaders Win

Apart from a boost in the price of wheat, Saskatchewan couldn't have heard much better news than what happened on a football field in Calgary on Saturday.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, a team of also-rans for more seasons than their supporters care to remember, handed the Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders their first defeat in two seasons of scheduled play in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Spearheaded by Del Warden, a backfielder who wasn't considered good enough to make the Calgary team last year, the Regina-operated Roughriders ended Stampeders' 10-game winning streak with a 9 to 6 victory. The win assured Riders of the second W.I.F.U. playoff berth and roused brisk speculation as to their chances of winning the western title.

Playoff hopes of the last two outsiders in eastern Canada neared the vanishing point as Toronto Argonauts absorbed a 24 to 13 beating at the hands of the league-leading Ottawa Roughriders in the Interprovincial Union while Windsor Rockets blew a 5 to 3 decision to the front-running Hamilton Tigers in the O.R.F.U.

That eased the worries of the second-place clubs in both leagues as Montreal Alouettes rolled to a 22 to 6 triumph over Hamilton Wildcats in the Big Four and the O.R.F.U.'s Sarnia Imperials fattened their scoring averages with a 34 to 5 decision over Toronto Balmy Beach.

ESKIMOS WIN
Edmonton Eskimos, fighting hopelessly to keep their western Canada playoff chances alive, scrapped the T-formation in favor of a single-wing backfield and were rewarded with a 13 to 6 victory over the cellar-dwelling Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

In the evenly-balanced Intercollegiate Union, the unbeaten University of Western Ontario Mustangs squeaked to a 11 to 8 victory over University of Toronto Blues while McGill's Redmen downed the Golden Gaels of Queen's University 17 to 1 at Montreal.

The results gave McGill a two-point edge over Toronto for the second playoff berth at the half-way mark. The collegians do not participate in Grey Cup competition.

Vernon Canadians Pace Hockey League
KAMLOOPS (CP)—A hustling bunch of Vernon Canadians walloped Kamloops Elks, 8 to 3, Saturday night to take over first place in the Okanagan-Mainline Hockey League. Kamloops and Kelowna are tied for second spot with five points each.

Canadians have a one-point lead. Art Davidson led the Canadians to their one-sided victory, scoring three goals. Bert Elliott had two, and Bernie Petrie, Stan Mills and Reg Betts scored single markers.

Don Johnston counted twice for Kamloops and Cliff Mills notched the other.

SAILORS RALLY
Coming from behind a 2 to 0 deficit at halftime the Navy put on a great second half offensive to finish on the right end of the score.

Heaney's enjoyed a wide margin of play for the first 45 minutes with Dick Bell and Jack Robbins scoring goals.

With the start of the second half the Navy swept on the attack and soon tied the score on a pair of counters by Don Forster. Heaney's lost the services of goalie Bill Henderson when he suffered a slight concussion attempting to block Forster's second shot. He was replaced by Ron Pearce but Henderson's loss upset Heaney's and the Navy broke through for two goals by Bill Peakman and Vic Dovey.

Heaney's rallied towards the end and managed to close the gap to a single goal on a counter by Phil Wilkinson.

HOPE'S GOAL WINS
Getting a breakthrough early in the first half, Bill Hope registered the only goal of the match to give the Wests their margin over Oak Bay. The Bays held majority of the play in the opening period but couldn't score. In the second half the Wests held their own and were able to protect the one-goal edge for their second triumph of the season.

Report Del Baker To Pilot San Diego
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Union says Del Baker will be named manager of the Pacific Coast League's San Diego baseball club. He will be named this week, the Union's Monday morning story said, to succeed Bucky Harris. Baker, 37, was recently released from a two-year contract with the Coast League's Sacramento club. He formerly managed Detroit Tigers.

Nominate Wrestlers For Trip To Games
MONTREAL (CP)—Four Montreal wrestlers have been recommended to the British Empire Games Committee chairman for membership on the Canadian team at the games in Auckland, N.Z., next February.

Recommendation of the four, Ferdinand Payette, Maurice Vachon, Morgan Plumb and Roland Milrod, was made by the trials selection committee at the close of the Canadian championships here Saturday night.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Ralph (Red) Kress, for the last four years head coach of the New York Giants, Saturday was signed as manager by the Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League.

A former major league catcher with Detroit Tigers, Philadelphia Athletics and New York Giants, Richards piloted Buffalo Bisons to first place this year in the International League.

Joyner (Jo Jo) White quit as Seattle manager in mid-season this year when the team was in a slump. The Rainiers finished fifth.

Richards expects to discuss player plans with Earl Sheely, head of the Rainiers' front office, at the Coast League meeting in Los Angeles, Nov. 10-11.

In a long-distance telephone conversation Richards said, "I would like to have as much running speed as possible for 1950 since I understand that the still air over the stadium in Seattle cuts down on some of those long drives. But we'll still have to play the type of game best suited to our material."

Paul Richards New Manager Of Seattle Coast Ball Squad
SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle Rainiers announced Saturday that Paul Richards had signed a two-year contract to manage this city's team in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Salary terms were not divulged.

Two Clubs Share Lead In Prairie Junior Ice League

Moose Jaw Canucks and Medicine Hat Tigers today share the berth in the young Western Canada Junior Hockey League schedule.

Moose Jaw posted their second straight win over Regina Pats Saturday night, whipping them 6 to 3 before a hometown crowd of 2,000. They defeated Regina 4 to 2 Friday in their opener at Regina.

Canuck's crackerjack forward line of Jack Shave, Don Haley and Lorne Poppen racked up a total of 11 points.

In Medicine Hat, the home team was busy Saturday night snowing Crow's Nest Pass Lions under a 9 to 3 avalanche. Defensive star and team captain Jack Shupe led the Tiger attack with a hat-trick performance. Len Haley picked up two goals and an assist while other Tiger scorers were Norm Lund, Bobby Holmes, Bruce Dickson and Eddie Schmidt.

Shave led the Moose Jaw attack by snaring three goals, while his two linemates collected one each. Don Lardner connected for the other Moose Jaw goal.

Winger Paul Masnick, Bob Hall and Eddie Lutzenberger scored for Regina.

Vern Pachel emerged as the lone scorer for Crow's Nest Pass in their bid against Medicine Hat, firing home two markers in the first period and the other in the second.

Montreal Canadiens are still on top of the National Hockey League ladder although they failed to produce a victory in two games during the week-end with Boston Bruins.

Once again big Bill Durnan proved that he was tops among the netminding fraternity by coming up with a shutout performance against the second-place Bruins Sunday night in Boston.

Saturday night at Montreal, the big fellow eased up enough to allow the Bruins to edge his team 2 to 1 in a close but dull fixture.

Sunday night's game provided 13,526 Boston fans with the rare treat of watching a scoreless game. Durnan at one end of the rink was sensational and at the other end, equally brilliant was rookie Jack Gelineau, the former McGill Redmen net custodian.

In other week-end games New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 2 to 2 stalemate, at Toronto Saturday and Detroit Red Wings were forced to come from behind a two-goal deficit to earn a 3 to 3 split with the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday.

BRILLIANT PLAY
The 34-year-old Durnan, who has only allowed four pucks to pass him in five games this season, may be the answer to why Canadiens are in first place. His five performances so far have been nothing short of sensational.

Equally brilliant in the week-end battle was Gelineau, who allowed only one puck to pass him in two games. The former Montrealer, who replaced Frankie Brimsek in the Boston goal this season, proved that he will be a hot contender for Durnan this year in the Vezina trophy race.

Toronto Maple Leafs, the Stanley Cup champions, were unable to shake off the New York Rangers, who were only one minute and 27 seconds away from victory when Ted Kennedy evened the count 2 to 2.

Aldermen Meet In Camera On City Administrator Question

City Council met in committee of the whole behind closed doors this afternoon to discuss further the Stevenson and Kellogg report recommending employment of a director of administration to manage the affairs of the city.

Mayor Percy George said the meeting was being held in camera to allow aldermen complete freedom of discussion.

"There are many details which we want to thrash out and we feel that it is in the best interests of the proposed project to hold a meeting of this kind," the chief magistrate stated.

It is believed majority of the council members are ready to endorse the report in principle.

Mayor George has done so already and he has indicated he would favor employment of the director soon, give him two or three months to study the present administration and personnel, and then implement the report as approved and possibly amended by the council.

The mayor said he wanted the duties of the director laid down by law.

It was expected the aldermen would discuss further the question of salary for the new position. Earlier it was thought that $15,000 might fill the bill.

Even though decision to implement the report of the Stevenson and Kellogg business engineers has not been reached, applications have been received by the city for the new offices which would be created.

A West Vancouver man applied for the position of director on a three-year contract at an annual salary of $9,000 with appointment of an assistant to be paid $5,000 a year.

A South African who was educated in Scotland and who recently made his home in Victoria applied today for the position of assistant director. He listed many references and gave a resume of general experience he has had in personnel administration in Scotland, England and South Africa.

Police, Firemen Had Busy Session During Peak Hours

From 4:15 to 6:20 Saturday afternoon the downtown area was rent with the screaming of police and fire sirens as the two forces rushed to seven scenes calling for their services.

First siren to stop the downtown shoppers was a call to police to take injured soccer player Ronald Gibbons to hospital for a spinal injury. He is from Chemainus.

Not long after city fire wagons rushed to 1916 Belmont Avenue where a plugged-in electric iron had started a sewing machine fire. Flames damaged the walls and window frames. No one was home.

Firemen were again on the go 20 minutes later. They sped to Fort and Douglas. It was a false alarm. A woman posting a letter pulled the alarm by mistake.

Police and firemen were called out at the same time for the next emergency run. Police found a report that a man who had collapsed in the gardens of the Legislative Buildings concerned a drunk. He was given free board at the police station.

The firemen's run on this occasion was to the V.M.D. No. 2 Yard, Bay Street. They put out a fire that caused $500 damage in the gallery of the Island Warrior. Fire started under an oil stove.

Police wagon and two ambulances went to Moss and George Streets at 5:15 to attend a three-car crash. No one was hurt. Cars were driven by Robert A. Lyons, 1461 May Street; Thomas H. Chandler, 1271 Faithful St., and William H. Bell, 1424 Point Street.

The long series of action runs terminated at 6:20. It was another false alarm for the firemen.

SUPPORT SAFETY CAMPAIGN—In support of the Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council's current campaign for safer driving, members of Victoria's Cosmopolitan Club Saturday afternoon put on a parade through downtown streets, including in their procession a number of wrecked and battered cars as a reminder of what can happen through careless driving. Here officers of the club are shown in one of the official cars in the parade. Driving is Cosmopolitan Al Harvey. At his right is Harry Gorson, organizer. In back of the car, from left to right, are Lew MacDonald, secretary; Tony Manus, president, and Harry Smith, treasurer. With the group, but not shown, was Max David, sergeant-at-arms.

New Concept Of Navigation In Arctic Outlined In Talk

The linking of Victoria and Yellowknife, on Great Slave Lake, by water this summer was more than just an ocean and river voyage—it played a major role in providing a new concept of navigation on the western Arctic coast, Victoria Gyros were told at their luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel today by Jim McKeachie, Victoria Times reporter.

Mr. McKeachie was aboard the 160-foot converted LCI—Yellowknife Expeditor when she left this city in August, sailed across the northern Pacific, the Bering Sea, through the Bering Strait and across the western Arctic Ocean to the Mackenzie River, then 1,200 miles up the river to Great Slave Lake.

Noting that it was the first time such a trip had ever been made, the speaker placed this secondary to the achievement of the ship in helping to show that speedy, flat-bottomed vessels like the Expeditor may prove important in northern navigation and defence, since they can keep inside the great ice pack which cuts the navigation season to about five weeks on the Arctic coast.

LONGER SEASON

"The ice pack grounds in relatively deep water, but a flat-bottomed ship could get through more often than deep-draft ships, and it could mean a longer navigation season up there," the reporter said.

Describing the arrival of the Expeditor at Yellowknife, he said the enthusiasm was considerably more than that shown by the arrival of new ships in Victoria earlier this year.

"It was easily understandable."

ESKIMOS HAPPY

"The Eskimos are happy people—everything is a joke to them—but most of us wondered if they would not be happier away from civilization, since they are sort of 'in-between,' being primitive and civilized as we think of it," Mr. McKeachie said.

He praised the hospitality of the Americans in Alaska, and especially the work of the U.S. Coast Guard and U.S. Navy in assisting the ship with minor repairs. The Coast Guard was standing by ready to come out and lead the Expeditor in as she approached Kodiak with her gyro compass out and her magnetic compass acting up.

The talk was interspersed with a few humorous stories illustrating what the speaker termed "the grim humor of the north."

Young Motorists Pay $35 Fines

Two young Victoria motorists were each fined $35 in city police court today on separate charges of careless driving.

The two were Ronald Mousley, 1441 Walnut Street, and Jack L. Wilkinson, 101 Maddock Avenue. Both pleaded guilty to the charges.

The two were apprehended on Oct. 18 when police noticed cars driven by the accused were apparently racing on Government Street.

Both drivers denied they were racing. Mousley contended he noticed Wilkinson was driving without lights and so overtook Wilkinson's car to signal him to this effect. Wilkinson confirmed that he had been driving without his lights, and explained he later overtook Mousley's car to warn him that sparks from the exhaust were coming out dangerously close to the fuel tank.

H. B. Olson left Victoria today for Dresser, Wisconsin, to attend the funeral of his brother Ernest, who died there Sunday. Another brother, R. F. Olson of Victoria, who is at present in Alberta, will also attend the funeral.

Circle Traffic Plan To Undergo Trial Soon At Fountain Corner

Trial of the round-about plan for traffic control at the Fountain intersection will be started soon, it was learned today at the City Hall.

Ald. J. D. Hunter announced that a public works department crew was starting work this afternoon to tear out part of the fountain island in the middle of the intersection.

Plan is to build a temporary circle island taking in the fountain and part of the road surface south of the existing island.

The circle will be marked either with sandbags or timbers for the trial. The portion of the intersection now covered by the northern end of the island will be surfaced, also direction signs will be painted on the streets.

The round-about or circle plan will eliminate left-hand turns in the intersection. Cars entering will turn right, travel around the circle, and turn off at the road wanted.

Graham Steed To Conduct 'Messiah'

Graham Steed, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, will be conductor of the Victoria Choral Union, it was announced at the annual meeting.

The following were elected to the executive: President, Dr. Richard Felton; vice-president, J. Dalziel; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. Heller; committee, Mrs. H. Sherratt, Mrs. J. Fitzwater, F. J. Ireland and George Alexander.

A short rehearsal began the meeting. A performance of the "Messiah" will be given in the Cathedral Dec. 18, under Mr. Steed's baton, and with Edgar Holloway at the organ.

The Choral Union is in need of singers in all parts, and those who would desire to be members are asked to get in touch with the society by coming to the rehearsal on Tuesday evenings at the Memorial Hall, when the executive will explain the terms of membership.

Name New President In Humane Society Reorganization

Still in the throes of reorganization since the resignation of its three top officers, the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A. has elected a retired prairie businessman, B. P. Fuller, as president.

Mr. Fuller takes the place of James Barr who resigned from office several weeks ago over dissatisfaction with internal operations of the organization.

His wife, Mrs. Florence Barr, resigned as secretary of the society at the same time, as well as Mrs. W. B. Williams, vice-president. A fourth resignation was turned in also, that of H. A. Napper, a member of the board of directors.

A complete slate of new officers has not been chosen yet, but E. P. Heywood, who acted as president until the election of Mr. Fuller, said another meeting was to be held next week when other officers will be chosen.

Mr. Heywood is now vice-president and Mrs. M. F. Hunter is continuing as treasurer. Mrs. T. Kerswell is acting as recording secretary.

B.C. Auto Transport Men To Meet Nov. 19

Bus and trucking companies throughout the province will be sending representatives to the annual fall conference of the B.C. Automotive Transport Association to be held at Harrison Hot Springs Hotel, Nov. 19.

Discussions on size and weight regulations, commercial vehicle courtesy and scheduled carrier operations will highlight the meeting.

Works Minister E. C. Carson and Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, will attend the meeting as guests from Victoria. Vancouver's Mayor Charles Thompson and Police Chief Walter Mulligan will also attend.

The Next of Kin Association will meet at Memorial Arena Wednesday evening instead of Tuesday at 8.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Attention! Parent-Teacher Members. The first general meeting of the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council will be held Friday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m., in North Ward School. Your calendars will be available at the meeting.

The Victoria Senior Citizens' Campaign Council meets Tuesday, Oct. 25, Hard of Hearing Hall, 8 p.m. Delegates please take note. Visitors welcome.

Three-Car Crash

Three cars became involved in a Saturday evening crash at the corner of George and Moss Sts., according to city police. One car, driven by Robert A. Lyons, 1461 May Street, was turned over by the impact of the collision.

The Lyons car, police say, was traveling west on George and turning south on Moss when it came into contact with another southbound car on Moss being driven by William H. Bell, 1423 Point Street.

As the Lyons car overturned it hit the third car, driven by Thomas H. Chandler, 1271 Faithful Street, which was proceeding north on Moss.

Careless Driver To Pay $50 Fine

Laurence E. Hansen, 3886 Saul Street, was fined $50 by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court today. He was charged with careless driving.

In addition to the fine, Hansen had to relinquish his driver's license for one month and had to agree not to drive other than for business purposes for two months, after he gets it back.

Hansen was charged Oct. 15 with drunken driving after a police officer apprehended him driving without headlights on the wrong side of Douglas Street, between Johnson and Fisgard. The drunken driving charge later was withdrawn by acting city prosecutor Pat Sinnott and the lesser charge of careless driving submitted.

The Friendly Club, 1831 Fern Street, is now open for the winter season Wednesday evenings from 7:30.

A Vancouver man applied to City Council today to operate a convalescent home in a 15-room house at 345 Foul Bay Road.

Hit Police Bikes; Draws $50 Penalty

John Smith, Goward Road, was fined $50 on a charge of dangerous driving by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court this morning. He will also be prohibited from driving, except for business purposes, for a period of three months.

Smith was one of two motorists who last week were charged with driving in an intoxicated condition only to have these charges withdrawn and lesser charges substituted.

Smith was arrested by police Friday night last when the car he was driving on George Road crashed into two police motorcycles parked at the scene of an accident.

2 Apartment Blocks Here To Cost $92,000

Permits have been issued by the city for construction of two apartment buildings costing $92,000; it was reported today by J. W. Oosterlinck, chief building inspector.

The new apartments will be erected at Foul Bay and Crescent Road, and at 1835 Fort Street.

The Fort Street building will contain 20 suites and the permit, issued to H. E. and H. O. Fowler, 2130 Hall Road, lists the cost at $60,000.

The second apartment, to be built by Alexander Apartments, will cost $32,000 and will contain eight suites.

Birley, Wade and Stockhill are the architects for the $60,000 project, and Semmers and Simpson of Vancouver for the Alexander Apartments' building.

Discuss Oak Bay Join Water Board

The question of Oak Bay municipality becoming a member of the Greater Victoria Water Board will be discussed again Wednesday at 2:30 when the board meets, it was learned today from Mayor Percy George.

It is understood Oak Bay has applied to join the board but under terms not acceptable to the representatives of the city, Saanich and Esquimalt who make up the directorate.

Oak Bay opposed the city having greater representation on the board than other municipalities when it was formed.

The board feels that if the municipality wants to become a member, it must join under the same terms as Saanich and Esquimalt did.

CHAPTER ONE

MRS. MALONE locked all the doors in the rear of the Dude Hamburger Ranch, and carrying her suitcase and her winter coat, entered the bar for a last look around.

The wall-clock above the counter said noon. The Los Angeles bus would be along in 20 minutes and would stop for her if she signaled.

She made certain that the hot plates and grills were properly greased to withstand the months of disuse ahead. She tested the locks on the cupboards and cabinets where the tableware and china were stored. Then she closed and barred the shutters and went outside to wait.

It was a brilliant, clear day in mid-September. The desert no longer shimmered in the full summer heat and the straight ribbon of road had lost its tar-pit look and was hard and blue under the cloudless sky.

Mrs. Malone was thinking. She had had a good season. Thousands of tourists, Los Angeles bound, had been attracted by the log cabin, the shady porch, the clean rest-rooms and had stopped for sodas, hamburgers, candy bars and cigarettes.

She watched the horizon for the bus and mentally recounted her profits. Plenty, she figured, to pay her share at her sister's for the winter.

A few cars passed, but for the most part it was very quiet, the wonderful quiet of the Mojave which takes hold of one like strange music. No matter how many people poured across it, the desert remained untouched, pristine.

DEEP LONELINESS

Mrs. Malone loved and feared the silence. It healed her jangled nerves but deepened her loneliness. Only by keeping busy could she forget for even a moment the loss of her husband, Joe. Wonderful, kind lovable Joe.

She opened her purse to get her handkerchief, but when she looked up she saw something that dried the film of tears. At first she thought it must be a moving and storage van or perhaps a truck towing some kind of a house. Gleaming silver white in the sun, it approached from the west.

This thing, whatever it was, now took on the appearance of an armored fortress. It approached swiftly and smoothly until Mrs. Malone was able to identify it as an enormous trailer pulled by a truck. A smaller trailer drawn by a car followed close behind. The thing had a tall, cleaving prow, like a ship. It seemed to be made entirely of chromium and was streamlined from bow to stern.

He nodded toward the spectacular trailer, which stood like a giant dragonfly in the sun. "How'd you like to cook for her?" he asked.

...a great boat-shaped cradle on wheels, glittering so that it hurt the eyes.

The whole caravan slowed up as it approached the log cabin and directly in front of Mrs. Malone the driver of the leading truck brought the contraption to a stop.

"Hi, there," he called, leaning out of his cab, "is this a bus station?"

She said yes, it was and that the Los Angeles bus was due any minute.

"Okay." The driver dismounted. He was tall, black-haired and in his late forties. A handsome fellow, Mrs. Malone thought, but somehow unpleasant. Also his face seemed vaguely familiar.

Quick, catlike he walked back along the trailer and opened a door in its side. As he did so, steps reached out, unfolded, leaned down and touched the pavement. A young woman emerged from the interior of the great silver ark and hurried down the steps. Someone behind her handed out a suitcase and a patent leather hat-box. Silently the steps retracted. The door closed.

The young woman was pretty,

in a faded-blond way, but her expression was so anxious, so troubled, that she looked older than she probably was. The uniformed driver took the luggage and followed her as she hurried toward Mrs. Malone.

"Do you know when the next Los Angeles bus will come?" she asked breathlessly.

"In about five minutes," Mrs. Malone said.

"Thank goodness! Oh, thank goodness!" "I'll wait," the driver said, putting the luggage down, "and make sure you get aboard."

"No, please, I'll be all right. This lady here is all the company I need. You go right ahead."

"Mrs. Everson said to wait," the driver insisted. He sat on the cabin steps and lighted a cigarette. Something in the way he flicked out the match and tossed it aside struck a bell in Mrs. Malone's memory. She certainly had seen him before. He wasn't young, but he was lithe and taut with hazel eyes and teeth too bone-white to be his own. The capped teeth... like the movie stars. That was it. She had seen him in the movies. Gable? No.

LAST THOUGHTS . . . the G.F. jarred loose with 2 bucks, so I watched the "Cougar" . . . bruise the "Canucks." The first time . . . the ice I've seen, and the first game . . . to which I've been. What a colorful sight . . . as each gladiator, cycloned about . . . this refrigerator. Under the lights . . . dropped from the ceiling, it gave me a nostalgic . . . sort of a feeling. To that . . . OTHER ice-house . . . near the Willows' gate, where I . . . as a lad . . . used to try and skate. And thrill to the hockey . . . when I had any mon, watching Lester Patrick . . . and Frank Frederickson. 'Twas a cozy thought . . . that again . . . this nite, Lester was sitting . . . not far to my right. All set . . . to make his bid, & he seemed as happy . . . as a kid. So I wondered about him . . . sitting near, & WHY to New York . . . he preferred it here? Then I looked again . . . got the answer maybe, HE TOO WAS BACK . . . IN THE WILLOWS WITH ME. YES . . . THAT . . . the rhythm & the rhyme, he was BACK in the place . . . where he started his climb. And as I looked sharper . . . there in his booth, Lester had found . . . the Fountain of Youth. Living EACH moment . . . full of zest, back with the folks . . . he loves the best. Lending his name . . . a great compliment to us, as with ice hockey . . . it's synonymous. The ONE man I know . . . who left his home town, & then came back . . . to give it a crown. I know my feelings are shared by you all, as these rambling thoughts . . . I here-in recall. And I guess . . . HE knows . . . when we're all about, as his eyes are glued to the glistening bout. That WE are right behind, on all sides & front, & when he loses . . . we'll share the brunt. And when he wins . . . as WIN he will, our gratitude to him . . . we'll partly fulfill. For being privileged to watch & to support, the GREAT-EST name . . . in our NATIONAL SPORT.

HAVE YOU a guest-size dining-room in your home? Then we have what you are looking for in a dining-room suite. The buffet is a thing of beauty, divided in the middle by sliding glass doors . . . with three roomy drawers on the other side of its full 5 ft. width. Another nice thing about this buffet . . . you can't possibly give it an accidental kick . . . as it's California styled set up some 6 to 9 inches on legs. The table is 40 ins. by 54 ins. when closed . . . & opens up to 6 big feet . . . all kinds of room to have the whole darn family at Christmas. There is a curved back arm chair for Father, and 5 matching diners, all upholstered in wine velvet. This latest model by a leading Can. Mfg. is warehoused at only $245. (Terms of course). Should you want the china cabinet . . . it is also available & for immediate delivery. It measures 36 ins. wide . . . with a depth of 20 ins. and stands 66 ins. high. It also has sliding glass drawers on top. This "You'll Love It" suite is in beautiful matched grained walnut. We also have a very similar suite . . . and by the same Mfg. In the smaller dining-room size. The buffet being 50 ins. wide . . . the table closed 36 ins. by 60 ins. So . . . if you are looking about for dining-room furniture . . . have a squint at these . . . thank you.

Cattle Stampede Highlight Of Film

The mass runaway of thousands of cattle provide film fans with ten minutes of intense excitement in "Stampede," now showing at the Plaza Theatre, with Rod Cameron, Gale Storm, Johnny Mack Brown and Don Castle co-starred.

More than 3,500 head of cattle were used for this scene, and during the filming of the sequence three cowboys were injured when their horses were caught in the crush of the frightened cattle.

ROYAL THEATRE

Kenny Washington, regarded by many sports writers as the greatest football player ever to tread a Pacific Coast gridiron, has an important role in Paramount's Hal Willis adventure-thriller, "Rope of Sand," now at the Royal Theatre.

The former U.C.L.A. All-American left half plays Burt Lancaster's sidekick in the exciting story of intrigue along the South African diamond belt.

"Wrong Guy" Movie
Treats Of U.S. Cities' Crime Situation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shooting quietly in Culver City is a film which appears to have been written from the headlines of Los Angeles newspapers.

It's called "Wrong Guy" and it's a thinly-veiled treatment of the local crime situation. The script concerns an attempt to set up a race track information wire in California—with various fireworks thrown in. Followers of recent news events will detect parallels to the Bugsy Siegel murder and the recent Sunbelt strip shooting of Mickey Cohen.

Kingspins of crime and gambling in New York as well as Los Angeles may find themselves closely etched in the film, which stars Edmond O'Brien and Joanne Dru. There's no kidding about the seriousness of the project; Los Angeles police detectives are on the set constantly.

ROLES AHEAD

Joel McCrea is considering a "Captain Kidd" role after "The Outriders." He is balking, because the film will be made in England.

Ida Lupino and Collier Young take on another problem with "Pacheco," which will deal with Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles. The producers have already tackled the problems of unwed mothers ("Not Wanted") and polio ("Never Fear").

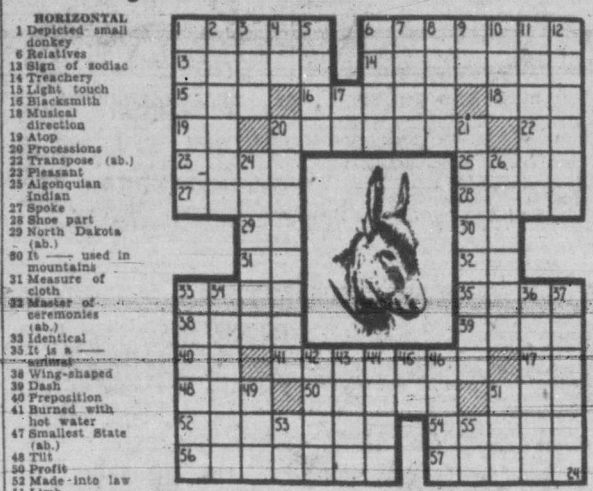

Roy Rogers is the first top screen star to take on a regular television show. He'll put his nag through its paces on a program called "Tricks with Trigger."

Ed Wynn's second TV show was even better than the first. It should become one of the top shows on home screens, east or west.

BIGGEST BONEHEAD
The biggest bonehead that ever lived was a dinosaur, whose head was topped with a huge dome of dense, solid bone, with extra trimmings of bone knobs, bumps and points, known as the pachycephalosaurus.

NOT NYLON SHEERS
Weight of the armor worn in the Middle Ages ranged from 25 to more than 100 pounds.

Bridge Wm. E. McKenney

Expert Tells Tale of Woe on Himself

I have just had an opportunity to look through Helen Sobel's new book entitled "All the Tricks." It is different from any bridge book I have seen in a long time. Helen Sobel has long been rated the outstanding woman bridge player in the world. You will even find some experts rating her as one of the 10 outstanding players of all time among men and women.

Her book is light enough to be fascinating, humorous enough to keep you smiling, and on top of that, it has some mighty fine bridge logic.

I liked today's hand, taken from the chapter entitled "Two Little Old Ladies." I liked it because an author is not always willing to tell a story on himself, and that is what Miss Sobel does here.

Miss Sobel (North) was playing against two little old ladies of the type one often meets in tournaments, and at card parties. When the bidding was completed, the little old lady in the West position promptly led the queen of clubs out of turn. The tournament director was called, and he told Miss Sobel she could call for a lead from the correct leader. West picked up the queen of clubs, and Miss Sobel smilingly asked East to lead a diamond—and then it happened. The little old lady said she had no diamonds.

Now the director told her she was free to lead whatever she wanted, and she led a small club. When Miss Sobel played the nine from dummy, West won the trick with the 10-spot, led back a diamond, and Eastuffed. The little old lady came back with a club. West won it with the queen and led back another diamond. . . . and Miss Sobel's perfectly sound contract of four hearts was defeated.

CAPITOL THEATRE
A few years ago a pretty brunette named Betty Jones Howarth was discovered by Red Skelton while she was clerking in a Los Angeles music-store. After a successful M-G-M test, she played extra roles in a number of pictures.

So good was Miss Howarth in smaller roles that she was signed by Director Robert Z. Leonard for a part with Judy Garland and Van Johnson in the new M-G-M Technicolor musical, "In the Good Old Summertime," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The part fitted Betty like a glove. She didn't require any research for it. She plays a music-store clerk!

ARTHRITIS New Concentrated Prescription Found

Arthritic and Rheumatic pain and inflammation can strike the joints in many parts of the body and there are many forms with varying symptoms. The new concentrated prescription for external use has been found to give quick relief from pain. The prescription is a combination of oils which you dab on the affected parts, do not rub, as the oils will penetrate the skin barriers so there is no question of having to apply massage. You can obtain the new prescription from your druggist, simply ask for 3 ozs. of Zolvum Oils Concentrated and if your skin becomes tender, get half an ounce of Zolvum Ointment which you massage gently into the skin. In any case, you will find it helpful to use the ointment once or twice every 24 hours.

Illinois' Win First In 30 Years Effort

NEW YORK (CP)—Saturday's college football games in the United States provided more upsets than a Christmas stocking.

Michigan, beaten on successive weeks by Army and Northwestern, battered powerful Minnesota from the Big Ten top, 14 to 7. Southern Methodist, with triple-threat ace Doak Walker out of action, pushed Kentucky off the unbeaten list, 20 to 7.

North Carolina, ranked No. 6 in last week's Associated Press poll, was upset 13 to 7 by Louisiana State in a night game at Baton Rouge, La.

Illinois blanked Purdue 19 to 0 for their first victory over the Boilermakers in 30 years of trying and Wyoming downed Utah 13 to 0. It was the first time the Cowboys had ever defeated the Utes.

Froggy Williams booted a field goal from a difficult angle to give Rice a 17 to 15 edge over Texas. Arkansas edged Vanderbilt 7 to 6, and Iowa subdued Northwestern's Rose Bowl champions 28 to 21.

Indiana's Sophomores completely befuddled Pittsburgh, another previously unbeaten club, 48 to 14, and little Memphis State stopped down Kansas State 21 to 14. In turn, Kansas stopped Oklahoma A. & M. 55 to 14.

Every one of those results was a glit-edged upset.

ARMY MARCHES ON

There were other unusual features. Army massacred Columbia 63 to 6, and Cornell had to hustle all the way to whip Princeton 14 to 12, in defence of its Ivy League leadership.

Connecticut's 125 to 0 verdict over Newport Naval Station was another surprise. Connecticut being only an 11-point favorite as the teams took the field.

The Illinois and Michigan victories pushed Illinois to the top of the Big Ten standing. California continued its dominance of the Pacific Coast Conference with a 21 to 7 triumph over Washington. U.C.L.A., beaten by Santa Clara a week ago, kept its conference record clear with a 27 to 20 verdict over Washington State.

Oregon built up a 6 to 0 edge over Southern California on a pair of field goals in the first half but the Trojans exploded for three touchdowns in the third period and went on to win 40 to 13. Stanford kept in contention in the Coast Conference by trimming Oregon State, 27 to 7.
